MARIA TERESA SINKS AT SEA.

Goes Down in a Gale Last Tuesday But No Lives Are Lost.

Associated Press Dispatches by
The Tribune's Special Leased Wire.

CHARLESTON, S. C., Nov. 5.—The tug Merritt put into Charleston this morning for supplies. She reported the loss of the cruiser Maria Teresa, raised by Constructor Hobson off San Salvador, Bahamas, November 1st, in the midst of a furious storm.

The cruiser left Caimanera, Cuba, on the morning of October 30th, in tow, for New York. She had already passed Cape Maysi and started northeast around the Bahamas. A furious storm, warning of which had already been sent out, overtook her, and in her condition she was unable to weather the gale.

The strain opened rents in her hull, which had been patched to enable her to make the journey, and she began to fill rapidly with water.

The Merritt took off Captain Harris and the crew from the sinking ship, and she soon went down. The Merritt brought the Captain and 135 men, who will proceed north by rail. No lives were lost as far as known.

The Merritt is now at quarantine, six miles from the city, communication with her being difficult.

NAVY DEPARTMENT'S NEWS.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—The Navy Department here received a dispatch from Lieutenant Commander Harris, who was with the Maria Teresa when she left Caimanera, saying he had reached Charleston on the wrecking tug Merritt with the officers and fifty-eight men, formerly the crew of the Teresa. The cruiser was lost about thirty miles north of San Salvador Tuesday last in a northeast gale of exceptional violence.

This was all the advices received by the department up to 2 o'clock.

ABANDONED OFF BAHAMAS.

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—Private information received from Charleston this evening says the Maria Teresa was abandoned thirty miles north of Watling's island, one of the Bahamas.

Late in the day the Merritt arrived from quarantine and the survivors of the Teresa came ashore. They lost all clothing and personal effects and are supplied scantily. The Teresa sunk thirty miles off Watling Island at midnight Tuesday, after battling with the gale six hours.

Parts of the hull thought to be safe became weakened, rivets broke and the water made rapidly in the hold.

The boilers began to give way, and finally the water extinguished the fires in the engine room. The pumps would not work. The Vulcan was towing the Teresa while the Merritt rescued 114 of the crew, made up of volunteers from the Cincinnati, Newark and Vulcan. The ropes were then cut and then the Teresa rapidly filled.

The Vulcan and Leonidas deserted the Merritt, which put into Charleston with the rescued. Captain Crittenden and Captain Lacade of the Merritt had arms sprained. The crew left the ship for Norfolk.

CRUSHED BY A FALLING ROOM.

At Least Fifteen Workmen Killed in a New Theater at Detroit.

Associated Press Dispatches by
The Tribune's Special Leased Wire.

DETROIT, Mich., Nov. 5.—The roof of the new Wonderland Theater collapsed at 1:45 P. M., carrying down the iron galleries of the structure and a great mass of scaffolding and debris.

Some twenty-five men were working under the collapsed parts of the structure. Scarcely any of these men seemed to have escaped injury. The bodies of six dead men have already been recovered.

The side wall of the four-story structure is bulging threateningly, and the front of the building, although still upright, is considered dangerous. The hospital ambulances are busy carrying away the dead, and the wrecked theater is surrounded by a great crowd of people.

The theater was to have been occupied by J. H. Moore's Wonderland. The new building is owned by the Barbour estate. It is situated on Monroe avenue, opposite the Detroit Opera House and opposite the City Hall.

The names of the dead have not yet been accurately ascertained, but the ambulance surgeons say that fifteen are certainly dead.

The following are among the injured:

B. S. Shipkowski, laborer, seriously.
John Wilson, seriously.
William G. Rossley, seriously.
Joseph Polk, skull fractured.
W. H. Streetor, brickmason, slightly.
Joseph Pieter, fell from roof, head and legs badly crushed.
Charles Cross, arm broken and badly burned.
Joseph McBride, hurt internally, will probably die.
John Chesnowsky, badly hurt internally, will probably die.
F. S. Cherber, hands and arms mangled.
P. Pfeiffer, face and arms crushed.
Oscar Robinson, badly injured about face and shoulders.
J. A. Wilson, badly hurt.
Louis Schmidt, seriously.

STRIKE OF THE PRESSMEN IS MAINTAINED

Afternoon Papers Fail to Issue First Editions.

San Francisco May Have No Newspapers For a Few Days.

Associated Press Dispatches by
The Tribune's Special Leased Wire.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 5.—The newspaper strike is still on, and so far today the afternoon papers have failed to appear.

The Post, however, got out a four-page racing edition at noon, but the regular first edition of all the papers has been declared off. The Post and Bulletin could get out their papers with little difficulty, as all of the men on the Post and most of those on the Bulletin have refused to strike, but the Report is in trouble, consequently the other two papers will not publish until the Report can be printed. Arrangements have been made to print the Report on the Examiner's press, and the regular 4 o'clock editions of the paper will probably appear.

The striking pressmen are making strenuous efforts to call out the stereotypers, and in several of the offices have succeeded. Enough men remained with the morning papers to enable them to appear as usual this morning, though a little late. One proprietor of one of the big morning dailies went down to the stereotyping room this morning and helped to work the plates for his paper.

It is probable that the morning papers will publish Sunday morning, and it is also probable that if too much difficulty is experienced by any one paper in publishing that all the newspaper plants will be shut down and the people of San Francisco will have to do without newspapers for a few days.

TEN MINERS MEET DEATH

A Frightful Catastrophe Due to an Engineer's Carelessness.

Associated Press Dispatches by
The Tribune's Special Leased Wire.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Nov. 5.—Seven men were killed and three fatally injured at the Exeter colliery of the Lehigh Coal Company at West Pittston near here to-day. The accident was due to the alleged carelessness of Engineer David Price, who acted in disobedience of positive orders and caused three cars to run into the top of the shaft. These cars, loaded and weighing eleven tons, fell down the 360-foot shaft and crashed with frightful force upon the carriage carrying ten men. Seven were almost instantly killed. They are:

MICHAEL SMITH, 35 years o age, miner, married, leaves widow and four children.

((mTeh J .7H nafdy?.....(..

ANDREW TINKO, 40 years of age, miner, married, leaves widow and six children.

MICHAEL PODESABANNY, 25 years of age, miner, unmarried.

MICHAEL BIAZUKE, 33 years of age, miner, unmarried.

JOSE CULOCK, 25 years of age, married, leaves widow and one child.

MICHAEL WASLOWSKY, 45 years of age, unmarried.

JOSEPH ANDREWOSY, 30 years of age, unmarried.

The injured are:

WILLIAM PUKOS, miner, internal injuries.

JOSEPH WINSLER, laborer, head and back lacerated.

PAUL LACKSNONES, laborer, concussion of the spine.

The accident occurred at 6:20 o'clock as the men were going to work and being sent down the shaft in parties of ten. Engineer Price, in charge of a little donkey engine, was shifting loaded cars from the new Red Ash shaft, several hundred yards away, to the Exeter breaker. This track approached the head of the Exeter shaft, and at a distance of thirty feet from it curved gently to the right and around the shaft to the breaker. At the point where this track commenced to curve was a switch, and the thirty feet of track leading to the head of the shaft was used for storage of crippled cars. Close to the head of the shaft it was closed by a head-block.

Price's orders were to approach the breaker with the engine at the head of the train. A few days ago he was caught pushing the cars, and was threatened with discharge for disobeying orders. To-day he did the same thing. The train was going at a good speed, when instead of curving around the shaft, the cars dashed into the switch, which was open. Price reversed the engine, but it was too late. The cars struck the head-block, smashed it, and three of the cars toppled down the shaft. About twenty feet fro mthe bottom they struck thecarriage with awful force, completely wrecking it. The mass of wreckage fell to the foot of the shaft, choking it, and when after hard work, the men were extracted, seven were dead and three atally hurt.

The Tribune's Special Leased Wire.

CANDIA, Island of Crete, Nov. 5.—Rear Admiral Gerard Henry Noel, British commander in these waters, today ordered the Turkish troops whose embarkation was delayed by an order from Constantinople to embark on a British transport.

The soldiers proceeded to obey, but the Turkish officer in command stopped the embarkation whereupon the British Admiral caused the barracks to be surrounded and declared the Turks prisoners.

He also threatened to use force to compel them to embark. The Turkish commanding officer then allowed the embarkation to proceed.

INSURGENTS ARE VICTORIOUS IN THE PHILIPPINES.

Associated Press Dispatches by
The Tribune's Special Leased Wire.

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—A dispatch to the Herald from Manila says that the rebels at Iloilo are advancing and the Spaniards are retiring before them. The foreigners are afraid the rebels will attack the town. Admiral Dewey had previously sent the Charleston and the Concord to protect foreign interests. The Isla Negroes has been taken by the rebels. It is rumored that all of the Spaniards are prisoners.

Your correspondent has just returned from a visit to the northern provinces of Luzon, where there is much misrule by the local authorities. Sheep robberies are frequent, and the public is furious. The provinces under the immediate control of Aguinaldo are fairly well ruled. If the United States assumes part of Spain's Philippines' debt it should insist on the payment of deposits in the savings bank or cajaya de depositos. Ninety per cent of the depositors are poor persons.

The health of the American troops is improving, as the heavy rains are over. MacMurray of the First Colorado volunteers has been drowned while in swimming in the river.

KAISER AND CZAR MAY BE EMBROILED.

BERLIN, Nov. 5.—The Frankfurt Zeitung says it learns from a well-informed source that Emperor William's visit to Turkey led to an agreement by which Germany undertakes to support the integrity of the Sultan's Asiatic possessions, for which Germany will receive commercial and industrial privileges.

The paper adds that it is believed that this agreement is tantamount to an armed alliance between the two countries.

A number of rumors as to the real objects of Emperor William's visit to Constantinople and the Holy Land have been in circulation ever since the intention of his majesty to visit the Orient was announced about a year ago. These alleged purposes included important railroad concessions to Germany, for colonizing purposes, the ceding of the port of Haifa, in Palestine; the ceding of the island of Rhodes to Germany, and the granting to Germany of the right to plant a large German colony along the whole frontier at Tripoli.

This last agreement, it was added, was intended to protect the Sultan against French encroachments across the Tripoli Russian frontier, and would also avoid granting Germany a concession in Asia Minor, which, it is added, would induce Russia to demand compensation.

On the other hand, it has been announced that some of the powers have warned Turkey that she will not be permitted to cede any territory to Germany; and Russia, it was announced from Berlin on Saturday last, was arriving at an understanding with Austria and France to provide against the accomplishment of certain German plans in the Orient.

FOUND UNCONSCIOUS WITH GAS ESCAPING.

A man named John Smith attempted suicide in the Kohler house 1506 Seventh street, this morning. He was found unconscious locked in a room with gas escaping from an open gas jet. His pockets contained a number of letters and one of them was addressed to John Smith, care of Miller Brothers, Chicago. The patrol wagon was summoned and Smith was taken to the Receiving Hospital.

MONEY WILL SALVE SPAIN'S HUMILIATION.

Associated Press Dispatches by
The Tribune's Special Leased Wire.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—While the Spanish commission has not, in exact terms, submitted a counter proposition, the Spaniards, by entering upon the argument of the American propositon have shown a disposition to negotiate relative to the Philippines that has shown to be erroneous the prediction that they would indignantly spurn any proposition that contemplated a relinquishment of Spanish sovereignty over the archipelago.

It is quite probable the way is now open to a compromise between the two sides, and that a monetary difference will be found to be the only one of substance. This, it is believed, is represented by the difference between about $40,000,000, probably the maximum allowance which the United States will be willing to pay to Spain for the improvements in the Philippines, and $200,000,000, which represents about the minimum of the Spanish claim for compensation on account of the cession of the entire group.

With about $150,000,000 at stake in this issue, it will be seen that there is fair reason to expect that the negotiations at Paris between the two parties will not be speedily terminated.

MALAGA, Spain, Nov. 5.—The Spanish transport Gran Iballi, Captain Bayona, from Havana on October 13th, via Porto Rico, with repatriated Spanish troops on board, has arrived here and reports that there were 100 deaths among the soldiers during the voyage across the Atlantic.

NICARAGUAN CANAL REPORT NEARLY READY.

Associated Press Dispatches by
The Tribune's Special Leased Wire.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—The Nicaraguan Canal Commission appointed by the President under an act of Congress directing a complete inquiry into this project, with particular reference to its practicability and cost, has about completed its work and the present prospect is that the report will be handed to Secretary Hay in about a month.

The conclusions arrived at by the commission will not be announced until the report is submitted. It is known, however, that two salient features—practicability and cost—the commission will report, first that the project of a canal joining the Atlantic and Pacific by what is commonly known as the Nicaragua route, is entirely feasible and practicable, presenting no engineering problems which cannot be met, and second, that the cost can be presented with a fair degree of mathematical exactness, allowing for excavation, construction and other items. The report will give this cost in figures, but the amount is not yet known even to the commissioners, as it will depend upon the careful computations now being made.

OMAHA EXPOSITION A RECORD BREAKER.

The Stockholders Get Back Every Dollar They Subscribed.

Associated Press Dispatches by
The Tribune's Special Leased Wire.

OMAHA, Nov. 5.—Today the trans-Mississippi exhibition managers are paying back every dollar subscribed for its construction. After this is accomplished enough money will remain in the treasury to more than pay the remaining 25 per cent and fulfill all obligations.

The rebate was ordered by the Board of Directors of the exposition yesterday afternoon, and a voucher for an amount sufficient to cover the distribution was drawn on Herman Kountze, treasurer, in favor of Frank Murphy as trustee for the stockholders. When the Merchants' National Bank, of which Mr. Murphy is president, opened this morning, the stockholders formed in line before the cashier's window, presented their stock certificates and received their money. As there are nearly 6,000 subscribers, the distribution will require some time, but a large proportion of the amount was drawn out today. The stockholders are jubilant, and the exposition management is receiving congratulations on a financial success that has been equaled by no previous exposition.

GRAND RALLY THIS EVENING.

TRAIN WRECKED NEAR STOCKTON.

Five Cars Loaded With Ore Smashed Up. No Lives Are Lost.

The Tribune's Special Leased Wire.

STOCKTON, Nov. 5.—Through the breaking of a journal, train No. 110 was wrecked at about 5:15 this morning, half a mile north of the Calaveras river, four miles from Stockton. The cars were laden with copper ore, en route from Keswick, in the northern port of the State, to New York.

The great weight of the cars, added to the weight of the ore, caused the cars to be badly stove up in the wreck. Five cars will have to be rebuilt.

The train was coming from Sacramento when the accident occurred. The journal broke and the wheels jumped the track, running over the ties for a distance of 150 yards. For fifty yards the rails were spread. One car si down the embankment, one end sunken in the earth and the other cars are piled up. There were forty cars in the train, but the breaking of a coupling saved the rest of the train.

The wreck caused a delay of several hours, and the passengers on the 2:22 o'clock train from Stockton were transferred at the scene of the wreck to a special sent down from Sacramento.

A wrecking train from Oakland was put to work, and had the track clear by 1:30. No one was injured.

CHAS. W. HEYER'S REPLY

A campaign story has been circulated with regard to the business affairs of the Lyons brewery of Haywards that happened ten years ago, and which seeks to involve me in a difficulty with revenue officers over the beer stamp. In this story it is asserted that I was at that time a proprietor of the brewery and that I was a party to proceedings had. Neither of these propositions are true. I was not a proprietor nor in any way financially interested in the institution, and I was in no way cognizant of the affairs of the concern; neither was I a party to the proceedings in question.

The affair was based upon the statements made by M. B. Clark, a discharged employé, who was seeking revenge for his discharge, and who was, at the time he was called as a witness, serving a sentence in the Alameda County Jail for some misdemeanor.

This was ten years ago, and at that time I had no knowledge of the business affairs of the brewery.

This takes the usual form of a campaign story and is based upon the statements of a man who has been arrested at different times and who has a revenge seeking, discharged employe.

W LDON HAS MADE A GOOD OFFICER.

C. F. Weldon, candidate for re-election to the office of Constable of Brooklyn township, is making a good, clean fight, and the indications are that he will be returned to the office which he has filled in such an acceptable manner.

During his term of office Mr. Weldon has drawn on an average from the taxpayers as fees for the work performed by him the small sum of $87.22 a month, as shown by the records. He has performed the duties of his office well, and has the confidence of his constituents and should be re-elected.

He was one of the few Constables who were not called before the Grand Jury to explain the affairs of their offices, and his public career has been above reproach.

There are a number of candidates for the office in Weldon's district who are requesting their friends to "plank" for them, that is, to vote for one Constable only. As there are two to be elected, it can readily be seen that in this manner they hope to defeat the man who has faithfully fulfilled the duties of his office and who has made an open, clean, honest fight for re-election.

FALSEHOOD IN POLITICS.

Henry P. Dalton Makes a Statement of His Own "To Merchants, Producers and Laborers."

Falsehood in campaigning does the user of the falsehood no good. A man who cannot tell the truth about his opponent is not worthy of the votes of the people and in a circular issued over the name of John Hackett, statements are made about me which are only not true but which can be proven not true.

The old and worn out statement is made that I left the Oakland water front property off of the county assessment rolls for three years during litigation with the city, and because I acted under the advice of the attorneys for the city of Oakland who were fighting the Oakland Water Front Company and its outrageous claims, and because I sought to do what was a protection of the interests of the people certain taxes were lost to the county.

That this is merely a plain falsehood is shown by the fact that my assessment for the year 1898 of the water front property will produce more taxes for the benefit of the State and county than the entire four years' assessment made by my predecessor.

For years the Oakland Water Front Company depended upon the fact that public servants assessed the water front property as private property, for its shadow of title, and that property was left off of the rolls to save that technicality, and upon the advice of the attorneys for the city, as the following letter shows:

Oakland, Nov. 5th, 1898—Mr. H. P. Dalton, Oakland, Cal.—Dear Sir: In answer to your question as to whether the Oakland water front was left off the county assessment roll under the advice of the attorneys for the city of Oakland for the years '95 '96 and '97, we have to say that pending the water front litigation the water front property was left off the assessment roll by you under our advice. The reason was that the public should not even seem to be recognizing the asserted private title of those in litigation with the city by the assessment as private property of that which was claimed by the city in that litigation to be property belonging to the public and dedicated to public use.

DAVIS & HILL,
E. J. PRINGLE,
H. A. POWELL.
Attorneys for the City of Oakland.

The statement that the Risdon Iron Works was prevented from coming to Oakland because of fear of excessive assessment is another falsehood that is proven such by the statement of Robert S. Moore, superintendent of the Risdon Iron Works, who, when shown this statement, said: "There is absolutely nothing in it. It is not true that any such fact ever entered into the calculations of the corporation. I am in a position to know that what is stated in that circular is not so."

Another falsehood is the statement that the Valley Railroad declined to make Oakland its terminus because I was an Assessor "who fought corporations." This is another plain falsehood and is branded as such by the following statement from Robert Watt, vice-president of the Valley Road, and a resident of Oakland:

"The Valley Road did not come into Oakland for reasons of a purely business nature, well known to its directors, but which are not necessary to make public. It is absurd to say that the road kept shy of Oakland from fear of the Dalton assessments or anybody else's assessments, for the matter was never even mentioned, and I doubt if it was thought of by the directors."

I subscribed $1,000 to the fund to bring the Valley Road to Oakland. How much did Captain John Hackett or the Oakland Water Front Company subscribe?

The corporations that I have opposed are now trying to defeat me. The fact that I have made them pay some slight proportion of their taxes is causing them to oppose me, and I am proud of their opposition, particularly when they and my opponent resort to falsehood in order to accomplish that end. There can be nothing plainer than this. These statements are not true, they are falsehoods and are clearly proven so.

BASSETT WANTS INFORMATION.

To Henry P. Dalton, Assessor of Alameda county:

Friend Henry—I am afraid that as a corporation jabber, on the dead level, you are not quite a success. It may be, however, that much depends on the corporation to be jabbed. It seems to be the old story over again that it makes all the difference in the world whose ox is gored.

I have already asked you to explain why you assessed the Seventh street railroad and its franchise, which you know was out of your jurisdiction and in that of the State Board of Equalization, and why, for three years, you did not assess the water front, which is in your jurisdiction and not in that of the State Board of Equalization? You do not explain. Am I to understand that you avail yourself of that section of the Code which excuses a man from answering a question when the answer would place him in an embarrassing position?

I now ask you another question. Why is it that the Dalton Iron Foundry, which was incorporated on $100,000 paid up capital, is assessed at but $17,000?

You can, perhaps, explain this little discrepancy to the satisfaction of the taxpayers of Alameda county. If you cannot they will be forced to the conclusion that your claim to the title of "champion corporation jabber" is open to question.

While you are on the witness stand I will ask you one more question. While a member of the City Council, why did you advocate reducing the wages of the city's laborers from $2 to $1.50 per day? You took this stand when the Newton point matter was under discussion.

CAN NOT COLLECT FROM THE MOTHER.

The case of H. F. Hobson against Teresa Barattini was decided in favor of the defendant this morning by Judge Clift.

The suit was brought on an assigned claim of Dr. W. D. Huntington for $40.50 alleged to be due for medical services rendered the children of defendant. It was shown in court that one of the children was of age when the services were rendered, thus freeing the mother from the obligation of paying for her treatment. The mother testified that what money she had paid was for the treatment of her two minor children. Judgment was rendered against the plaintiff for costs.

OAKLAND PREPARING FOR THE GREAT EXPOSITION.

Pure Food Exhibit Will Be a Great Feature.

Dr. Rucker Makes Suggestions About Consumptives.

The Oakland Board of Health last evening threw its doors open in reception to the directors of the Exposition, to listen to the presentation of a project which it is believed will add materially to the interest of the municipal exhibits at the fair, and will also educate the patrons along a line that is of the utmost importance to the physical well-being of the community. It is proposed to establish a bacteriological laboratory at the Exposition, wherein will be exposed, by means of microscopic instruments, the presence of adulterations in food articles of common use, and wherein will be taught by object lessons the deadly character of the germs of contagious disease. For this purpose, the new bacteriological and chemical laboratory owned by the city will be placed in position at the Exposition, to be used for public instruction.

It was the mutual opinion of both Health Board and directors that this is an opportune time to commence a vigorous crusade against adulterated foods, and to strike an effective blow in favor of the legislation in this regard that is hoped to be passed at Sacramento next year. But this is not the only purpose in view. All members at last evening's conference conceded that such a novel exhibit would arouse the interest of every person in Oakland. It would be a striking feature of the Exposition.

It was therefore decided by the Board of Health to join with the directors in setting up such an exhibit. The City Council will be asked to permit the removal of the apparatus for this purpose.

There were present as guests last evening directors J. W. Nelson, John T. Bell, John A. Britton, and General Manager Charles D. Gray. Drs. Rucker, Dunn, Archibald, Eaton, and Kitchings appeared for the Board of Health.

Charles D. Gray opened the discussion with a long argument in favor of accomplishing the expulsion of adulterated foods by a campaign of education. He did not know how else the end could be wrought than by this method. Mr. Gray recited the experience he had encountered in Ohio, where to-day it is a crime to sell any but absolutely pure food. There the result was brought about by educating the people to such an extent that they would refuse to patronize manufacturers of impure food.

President Rucker of the Board took issue with Mr. Gray.

"The only way in the world," he said, "to accomplish this end will be by the passage of a law requiring people to live correctly."

Dr. Rucker recounted the experience of the local Board with the dairymen. He said the Board of Health used an educative course of procedure against them, but it was eventually of no avail. Dr. Rucker then touched upon the subject of contagious diseases, and in the course of his remarks made the following startling statement:

"GENTLEMEN, YOU MAY SMILE NOW, BUT I AM SATISFIED THAT THE TIME WILL SOON COME WHEN THE CONSUMPTIVE WILL NOT BE ALLOWED TO WALK THE STREET, UNLESS HE CARRY WITH HIM HIS EXPECTORATION CUP. THAT IS A TRUTH."

Dr. Rucker then suggested placing a laboratory in the Exposition to illustrate with microscopes the development of bacteria. He believed this would prove a great educator.

John A. Britton said he had just returned from the great International Exposition at Omaha. He had noticed the Government exhibit there, and found nothing more interesting than its bacteriological display. He thought this idea a good one, and one that was absolutely new.

"It would certainly educate the masses to the fact that poison lurks in impure food," said Mr. Britton. "It would be a credit to Oakland, for it is a new feature. I do not favor the plan of having lectures. Nobody would listen. I also oppose as a director the plan of taking up any given brand of food and exposing its impurities. We should do this in a general way as a matter merely of education."

John T. Bell explained that it was proposed to fit up a place large enough for fifty or seventy-five people.

"We are all interested in the legislation next year," he added. "The past laws have proved a dead letter, but this next Legislature must pass effective ones. There is nothing that is of more real value to the people of this State than this matter we are discussing. I hope we can hit upon some plan that will be mutually acceptable to the directors and to the Board of Health."

Dr. Kitchings expressed himself in favor of anything that would not bring criticism upon the Board.

Director J. W. Nelson replied that he could not see where the Board could be criticised.

"I can see, however," he continued, "where it can come in for public plaudits. We are there to preach the gospel of home industry. This pure food feature will be an interesting one. The discussion along this line will also have its help to the people. I would not favor exhibiting branded foods in a specific way, but doing it in general. We feel that your exhibit will be a valuable one."

In considering the proposition of having physicians deliver short talks each evening upon different themes in point, Dr. Rucker suggested that San Francisco doctors be employed.

In conclusion, President Rucker pledged the Board to stand in for anything that would tend to make the Exposition more successful.

FOR THE BENEFIT OF THE CHURCH.

The musical entertainment at South Berkeley Hall Thursday evening for the benefit of the South Berkeley Presbyterian Church was listened to by a large and appreciative audience and was a success in every way. Among the numbers presented were instrumental selections by Messrs. Overman, Tape, and Holloway, mandolins and guitar; Harry Cripps, violin; George Slawson, cornet; Mr. Clarence Merrill, flute; and Professor H. W. Foster, piano, all of which were enjoyed by those present. Miss Mabel Shaw sang "The Nightingale and the Rose" with much credit to herself; Mrs. Blake Alverson rendered two numbers, "If I But Knew" and "Could I," in fine voice. For an encore she gave "Annie Laurie." Frank Fowden, baritone, gave an excellent rendering of "The Soldier's Dream" and G. A. Hall, basso, gave two choice selected numbers, both of which were loudly applauded. Miss Ada Whaite gave a fine rendition of the "Queen of the Earth," and was compelled to respond to an encore. As a finale, Miss Grace Dobbins and J. H. Cooper gave a humorous vocal duet, entitled "Widow Malone" which permitted the audience to leave the hall in a most amiable frame of mind. The literary menu of the evening included a recitation by Mrs. A. Hill and a reading by W. H. Hathaway, both of whom are local favorites. The committee in charge of the programme consisted of Miss Lizzie Fowden, Miss Grace Dobbins and Mr. J. H. Cooper.

AN EVENING OF SONG.

The Starr King fraternity will give a concert on November 22d that will represent the growth and development of song. Representative songs will be chosen from the composition of the Seventeenth, Eighteenth, and Nineteenth centuries. Particular attention will be paid to the songs of the Nineteenth Century to show how much we have advanced in the art of music during the last century. Those chosen will include the best examples in English, French, German, and American, of modern song. The soloists of the evening will be Andrew Bogart, Miss Alma Berglund, and one other who has not yet been chosen.

The concert is to be given for educational advancement, and the admission fee has been put down to twenty-five cents, so as to be within the reach of every one.

THOUSANDS WILL BE SAVED IN THE DREDGING.

Why O. P. Johnson Was Awarded the Contract.

Radical Difference in the Way in Which He Will Do the Work.

A FIRM WITH EXPERIENCE.

The Improvement Will Be Along Lines of the Latest Designs.

The awarding of the contract for the dredging of Lake Merritt, a collateral feature of which will be a park of twenty acres which will cost the city not a penny, is the greatest step in the inauguration of a well-commenced system of public improvements which the city of Oakland has undertaken.

Some months ago it did not seem likely that such an undertaking could have been accomplished. Those who doubted that it would be carried out even at the last moment, now bear testimony that they had a mistaken idea as regards the intelligence and patriotism of the Council and the liberality and self-sacrifice of the citizens who sustained them in every move.

By the 1st of next July, as a consequence, the fetid waters of Lake Merritt, so fair to the eye, so foul as to their depths, will have been relieved of the tons of accretions of slime and disease-breeding sewage which have been washed into it by the tides by means of which the surface of the water park has been kept to a certain level.

In considering the bids offered by the rival contractors for the awarding of the contract for the performance of this great work, the Board of Public Works undertook a most onerous and disagreeable task.

Some bidders are particularly crotchety. They survey the plans, they study the specifications of a proposed public improvement and then they put in figures and specify a manner of their own in which they would like to do the work. The Board of Public Works had such contractors to contend with, but managed to act fearless of their anger in the event that the contract for the dredging should be awarded to others, more especially those whose bids had been offered in accordance with the specifications.

In the prosecution of public work, and more especially in the carrying out of public improvements of moment, it is essential that the contract for the same should be given to men who guarantee to do work as the controlling power desires to have it done, and also to a man or to a firm who is able to perform the work and to complete it in a workmanship manner and within the time allowed for the purpose.

In this instance the contract was awarded to O. P. Johnson, of the well known firm of Johnson & Peterson, who guaranteed to do the work as required for $55,000 in round figures. This firm had a competitor in Quimby & Harrelson, who offered to do the work, or at least to do it in their own way at about $5,000 less. If Quimby & Harrelson had a right to offer to do the work in their own way the same privilege would have to be accorded to others, and hence it readily appears that the use of specifications to work upon represent merely so much time lost. The Quimby bid was declared illegal by the City Attorney and then the Board of Public Works did what every intelligent citizen expected they would do, award the contract to the lowest responsible bidder who had bid in accordance with the specifications. As a consequence the contract went to Johnson & Peterson.

Johnson & Peterson, however, were not only the lowest bidders under the specifications, but they were also the lowest bidders for the work when considered from any standpoint, and especially when the requirements of the work are taken into consideration. As the figures show, there was a difference of $5,000 between the bids of the two firms but a consideration of the work to be done by Jhonson & Peterson shows that their bid will result in a saving of at least $8,000 to the city. This is shown by the fact that the bid of Quimby & Harrelson made no provision whatever for the dredging of the channel between Twelfth and Eighth streets, which would cost the city, if bids should be advertized for later, not less than $8,000 extra. Besides, there is the additional difference of about $5,000 in the cost of a bulkhead on the east side of the estuary. Quimby & Harrelson's bulkhead, such as it was, was designed without respect to the channel which is to be dredged and which is part of the proposed improvement, while that of Johnson & Peterson was designed with respect to the channel, of a durable character, and which will serve to enable the channel to bear the relation to the lake which it was intended to bear.

In view of these facts, there is a saving to the city of at least $8,000. This is a moderate estimate because hundreds of citizens who have inquired into the work say that Johnson & Peterson's bid really represents a saving of about $13,000 to Oakland.

Another feature which is to be considered in this respect is the fact that if the contract had been awarded to Quinby & Harrelson, the work could not be done. The improvement would have to be undertaken with a dredger of the Powers' patent and Quinby & Harrelson have no right to the use of that machine. If they should attempt the improvement, an injunction would be secured against them from the court. The work would stop because a perpetual injunction would prevent further progress of the undertaking. That might have the effect of entirely killing the project, because to re-open the business, bids would have to again be advertised for and this, with a number of other incidentals would considerably add to the expense of the undertaking.

The possibility of legal interference and increased cost is obviated by the awarding of the contract to Johnson & Peterson, who have the right to use the Bowers' patent and who are enabled to use that great invention in the carrying out of the great improvement.

Another feature which will cause Oakland people to commend the Board of Public Works for their action in this matter is that the firm of Johnson & Peterson, to whom the contract has been let, is an Oakland firm. This means that the money which the city will pay for the dredging will be paid to contractors of Oakland, who will pay it to mechanics and laborers of Oakland, who, in turn, will pay it to merchants and trades people of all kinds in this city and vicinity. The money, therefore, remains at home. In fact, it is but transferring it from one pocket to another. The work for which this money will be expended will be the building of a dredger, which will cost several thousands, the building of bulkheads, and the outlay of wages for labor which must continue during the progress of the work.

Still another reason for satisfaction on the part of citizens over this work is the fact that the firm of Johnson & Peterson is well established, reliable and experienced. Proof of this is found in the fact that they have done work all along the coast and in this vicinity in various kinds of contracting. They built the quay wall at Mare Island, carried out the reclamation and irrigation plans on the Sacramento and San Joaquin rivers, constructed the ocean pier at Gaviota, had extensive contracts in the construction of the several branches of the Piedmont & Mountain View lines, to say nothing of the great undertakings which might be enumerated.

The contract for the dredging of the lake will be signed about the middle of next week and work on the great undertaking will be begun two minutes later, or as soon as it is known that the contract is signed. All that is required now is to have the papers prepared and submitted.

The work of building the dredger will require until about the first of the new year. That will leave six months in which to relieve Lake Merritt of 550,000 cubic yards of disease-breeding slime which are provided for in the contract which Johnson & Peterson have received.

Governor Budd says that the Republican campaign is like a comic opera. It doesn't look very funny, though, to the Democrats, for their faces are growing longer as the days roll by.

Viceroy Curzon will receive $100,000 per annum and expenses when he goes to India. The Leiter family seems to have a happy faculty of getting within reaching distance of big money all the time.

The French are calling us hypocrites because of our change of front as regards the Spanish possessions. If John Bull gets to spanking them we will have to ask him to give an extra slap for us.

The trolley car is to be imported into Japan. Now the people in that part of the world will have a chance to see what an up-to-date juggernaut looks like. The one they have been using down in India is far too slow nowadays.

With the raising of the American flag in Porto Rico the natives are said to have raised the price of everything on the island. They don't propose to be part and parcel of a millionaire government without getting something out of it.

The best way to put a stop to this Christian Science nonsense is to make a good example of the next person who is responsible for a death caused by such maltreatment. There have been so many declarations by the authorities that they would take a hand in the matter, and so little has ever come of them, that the Scientists no longer fear the cry of "wolf." It is full time to show them that there is something in it.

According to estimates made by the general manager of the Canadian Pacific Railway, $30,000,000 has already been expended for transportation, provisions, etc., by those who have gone to the Klondike, without figuring the value of the time of the thousands of prospectors who would have been in other employment. Instead, therefore, of the old theory that one dollar is spent trying to get every dollar's worth of gold that comes out of the ground, in the case of the Klondike it is a five to one proposition, for at the outside, not more than $6,000,000 has been obtained from it.

The announcement from Washington that the appeals from volunteer regiments to be relieved from garrison duty cannot be entertained settles the proposition of the California boys getting back from Manila in time for Christmas. It is only reasonable, anyhow, that as the regular army is too small to garrison the many stations where soldiers are now needed, the volunteers would have to be retained for that service until their terms of enlistment expire. Congress, however, may at the approaching session find a way of reorganizing the regular forces that will result in the terms of the volunteers being shortened.

The Illinois Supreme Court has rendered a decision upholding the Torrens land law, so there is no longer any excuse for not putting it into operation here. Illinois has made all the tests regarding the measure, for it was in that State that the law was first put into effect and later declared unconstitutional. A reconstructed measure was presented to the succeedstitutional. A reconstructed measure measure was presented to the succeeding Legislature, and that is the one that has now been sustained. California has a similar law on her statute books, so those who want to give it a trial now can feel satisfied as to the constitutionality of the transaction.

THE COUNTY TICKET.

There never was an occasion in Alameda county politics when a local Republican ticket was more deserving of success than is the present one. Although before the county convention met at San Leandro it was realized that the year was a Republican one in every sense of the expression, a decision was reached that on that account it would be bad policy to put up what could be considered a weak ticket. On the contrary, it was agreed that the selections should be of the highest caliber possible, so that the voters could not only have the satisfaction of endorsing the administration, but also of casting their ballots for the very best men who could be obtained to administer the county's affairs.

The result of all this was that the ticket placed before the people at the conclusion of the San Leandro convention was one that even its Democratic opponents were forced to admit contained the best and most representative men of the Republican forces. Those selected were not chosen simply on an office-seeking basis, but because it was realized that the respective departments to which they were allotted would be perfectly safe in their hands.

The Republicans of Alameda county can, therefore, vote for their ticket this year with the full consciousness that it is a representative one in every respect. There is not one weak spot upon it, and if the county were canvassed over it is doubtful if a better combination could be obtained. It deserves the solid endorsement not only of every loyal Republican in the county, but of every citizen who appreciates a good and business-like government. The Republican party rests its reputation upon its nominees, and that it can safely entrust its fortunes into their hands, no one who knows aught of the personal merits of the respective candidates will question. An analysis of the ticket will prove that the glowingly-pictured condition of things is by no means over-colored.

F. C. Jordan, the aspirant for County Clerk, has a record that speaks more emphatically for him than any mere compliments could do. His incumbency for the past four years has been marked by ability, zeal, integrity and energy, and it is not exaggerating the situation to say that the County Clerk's office never was in better condition than it is at the present time. He has been an efficient and faithful official, and to keep him where he now is for four years more would be but a just recognition of the laudable work he has done in the public interests.

Oscar Rogers, the nominee for Sheriff, is an Alamedan, and in the community in which he dwells is honored as a brave, faithful and vigilant official. He has been before the public eye for several years past, and that there is not a flaw in his record is shown by the way he has been elected time and again on every occasion when he has sought favors at the hands of the people. He is an ardent Republican, loyal to his friends and true to his trust, and on no worthier shoulders could the mantle of the shrievalty be laid.

H. P. Dalton, the Republican nominee for Assessor, needs no herald to sing his praises. He is running on what might be termed a personal platform—that of his record in the office he desires to retain for another term—and the people are so well satisfied with him that his re-election seems one of the certainties of the campaign.

J. B. Barber, who is before the people as a candidate for Tax Collector, has during the past four years proved his ability to conduct the department he desires to remain at the head of for another term. He is a faithful, indefatigable official, as "straight as a string," and with a record for honesty and integrity that is unquestioned.

C. H. Spear, the nominee for County Recorder, is one of the most popular young men on the ticket. The excellent manner in which he has administered the affairs of the Recorder's office during his present term furnishes sufficient proof as to his qualifications, and the popularity with which his candidacy has been received augurs well for the outcome on Tuesday next.

J. J. Allen, who is on the ticket for District Attorney, is a self-made man in every sense of the term. His advent into public life as City Justice was marked by so thorough and honorable an administration of the trust reposed in him that his re-election two years later became a matter of certainty. Two years more found history repeating itself for the second time, and now he stands before the people with his foot on a higher rung of the ladder. There is no one more deserving of success than John Allen, and the coming election will surely bestow it upon him.

B. C. Hawes, the nominee for Public Administrator, is one of the solid business men of the community. He hails from what is known as the interior of Alameda county, and as that section always stands up stanchly for the Republican city candidates, Oakland is in honor bound to return the compliment. Especially in Mr. Hawes' case is there every reason for doing so, for he is thoroughly equipped for the position of high trust for which the Republican party has named him.

Arthur Feidler, the Reublican representative for County Treasurer, also hails from the interior. He is a resident of Livermore, and a glance at the enviable record he has achieved there shows that he is in every way worthy of the public support he now seeks. He is able, upright and honorable, and in his hands the county funds will be safe and will be handled in an up-to-date business manner.

J. Cal Ewing, who seeks the Auditorship, is known in every part of Alameda county where there is a young man. He has been Chief Deputy in the office of County Clerk Jordan for the past four years, and in that capacity has proved that he is well fitted for the promotion now within his grasp. Capable, intelligent and trustworthy, Mr. Ewing will do the county honor in his chosen sphere.

S. D. Waterman, the nominee for Superintendent of Schools, is so well known in scholastic circles that the mere mention of his name is sufficient endorsement, for those who are in touch with that branch of our school life. He is at present principal of the Berkeley High School, and in the course of a long career devoted to educational work he has attained distinction as a scholar and esteem as a useful citizen.

George L. Nusbaumer, whose term of service as County Surveyor appears to have become indefinite, is before the people again, and as Democrats and Populists vote him almost as freely as do the Republicans, his election is assured. He owes his constant re-election to the zeal and usefulness he has displayed in his office, which experts say is conducted on a higher scale than that of any other County Surveyor in the State.

Dr. H. B. Mehrmann, the Republican candidate for Coroner, though not previously an office-holder, has been so long identified with public life that he is about as well known as any man in the county. He is one of the most enthusiastic Republicans in the party, and the loyal work he has done for it year in and year out justifies him for the recognition he now seeks. He will make a good and competent Coroner, and the people will make no mistake in putting him in the office.

The foregoing review of the county candidates is necessarily a brief one, but the few points given cover, in a general way, the merits and worthiness of the ticket, both as a whole and as regards the individual nominees. There is not a man among those mentioned who is not deserving of the honors he seeks, and the people of Alameda county will be subserving their own interests if they elect it from top to bottom.

The new colonial policy that Great Britain inaugurated when America broke away from her and she saw the mistakes she had made has been wonderfully successful, especially of late years. It is doubtful if more loyalty or enthusiasm for the British flag exists in England itself than is to be found in Canada, Australia, or South Africa, a good idea of the existing sentiment being given in the bill now being passed by the Cape Colony Assembly appropriating $150,000 annually for the British navy. Ties of affection are infinitely better than bonds of fear.

One of the best indications that capitalists consider that the good times have returned permanently is to be found in the vast amount of railroad building that is projected all over the country. The Santa Fe is going to make important extensions to its lines, especially in the West, a new road is talked of in Oregon and Idaho, and a number of the trunk lines are preparing to throw out feeders into new territory. Railroad construction is a sure sign of general prosperity.

THE LEGISLATIVE TICKET.

It is of supreme importance that the Republican Legislative ticket be elected in its entirety on Tuesday next, for such a happy outcome means many benefits for the whole community. Apart from the fact that to return a solid Republican Legislature means a very graceful compliment to the National administration, the point stands out that it will place Alameda county in an admirable position to secure what legislation she wants at the approaching session. With a solid representation of nine—three Senators and six Assemblymen—our fighting force would be better than that of any other part of the State, and as the Legislature will undoubtedly be Republican, such pronounced strength as that at our command will make Alameda county a power at Sacramento.

Then is to be considered the question of the election of a United States Senator. The National administration is looking to California to send a Republican successor to Senator White, and such a result will not only give us more power at Washington, but will furnish an additional aid to McKinley in the establishment of the many beneficial and progressive plans he has projected. There are personal reasons, also, why the Republican legislative candidates should be endorsed by the people at the polls, for the nominees are a clean-handed, useful set of men, who will be able to more than hold their own in the halls of legislation.

Frank Leavitt, the nominee for Senator in the Twenty-sixth District, is one of the best-gauged young men in the State. He is a hard worker, an aggressive speaker, a diplomat, and a shrewd, keen observer, and that he will make his mark in the Senate, every one who knows him feels confident. As a member of the last Assembly he made a record second to that of no man in the House, and it became an established fact that when he started in to do a thing he always accomplished it. The voters of his district should return him by a big majority, and that they will do so seems certain, from the expressions of satisfaction with which his candidacy has been received.

E. K. Taylor, the Senatorial nominee in the Twenty-eighth District, has a reputation that is not confined to Alameda, where he resides. He is regarded as one of the brainiest young men in Alameda county, and the way he has carved his way to the front shows that he possesses the secret of knowing how to turn his talents to account. He is quick-witted, a good talker and a clever politician, and he will worthily represent his district from every standpoint that can be figured.

William McDonald, nominee for Assemblyman in the Forty-sixth District, is known from one end of the county to the other. Competition is practically out of the question as far as he is concerned, for every man, woman and child at Livermore, where he resides, is willing to swear by him. He has good forensic ability, and much native talent, so he will be at home in the seat he is destined to occupy at Sacramento.

J. R. Knowland, the Assembly nominee in the Forty-seventh, is one of the representative young men of Alameda. He has been prominent in political, social and business life for the past six years, and the reward he now seeks will not be withheld from him, for no one has worked harder than he for the public interests. He is a sound talker and logician, and will make a good Assemblyman.

J. M. Kelley, the nominee in the Forty-eighth, is another aspirant for office who has no other blot on his fair fame than that of "the atrocious crime of being a young man." He is very popular wherever he is known, as is attested by the host of friends working for his election. He is a winner beyond all question of doubt.

A. A. McKeen, who seeks to be returned from the Forty-ninth, is a stalwart representative of educated labor. Mr. McKeen is an American mechanic of high type, with all the intelligence and industry of his race, and with a personal reputation that is unimpeachable. The voters of the Forty-ninth District will be honoring a worthy man and at the same time serving their own ends if they send him to Legislature by a rousing majority.

J. A. Bliss, the nominee in the Fiftieth District, is a sound business man of excellent principles and high moral and mental caliber. He will be a useful man at Sacramento for his district, for he has had legislative experiences in the State of Kansas, and hence will need no breaking in for the labors before him. The community in which he resides knows him as a square, frank citizen of sound principles and habits, and a big majority seems assured him.

Howard E. Wright, who is on the ilt for the Fifty-first District, saw service in the last Legislature, where he proved himself to be one of the most industrious members of the Alameda county delegation. He did splendid work in behalf of the State University, handling its appropriation bill in the House, and it was his ability in this regard that prompted the representative men of his district to get him to stand for re-election again this time. Mr. Wright is mentioned for Speaker of the House, his election on Tuesday next being generally considered a foregone conclusion.

THE SUPERVISORS.

There is no higher principle of business life than that the individual who has proved himself worthy of a public trust reposed in him should have the confidence of the people. This axiom is particularly appropriate at this time to the candidacy of the two candidates for Supervisor on the Republican ticket, for the ability and conscientiousness with which they have performed their labors during the term they are now ending will bear the scrutiny of investigation and public criticism.

It is true that their adversaries are assailing them from every conceivable standpoint, but those who know aught of political warfare are aware of the fact that these attacks are simply trumped up for the sake of campaign capital. Almost anything done by a man in public life can be twisted and distorted out of its proper shape to serve the ends of those who have an object in view, but when all is said and done the plain, unvarnished truth comes to the front again, and that is what is now asserting itself in the cases of Supervisors Church and Talcott, for the people realize that every assault upon them has been turned aside and every unkindly criticism disproven.

Supervisor Church has given to his constituents a business-like administration. He did not go into service on the Board on the theory that it was an official sinecure, but rather with the intention of treating what was placed in his hands with as much care and consideration as would be accorded it if it were a part of ordinary commercial life. Following out these lines, Mr. Church has been economical, prudent and thorough in everything he has done, his sole object being to get the best possible returns at the least possible expense to the tax-payers. That he has been successful in his work and ever faithful to those who placed him in office no one can gainsay, and the least that his constituents can do is to show their gratitude and appreciation of his labors by returning him for another term.

Supervisor Talcott's course in public life has also been marked by a desire to subserve the interests of the people on every occasion possible. He has devoted a great deal of time and attention to his official duties, and the vast amount of road work and various other improvements made in his district during his term of office show that he has been active in behalf of his immediate constituents. As regards county affairs in general, Mr. Talcott has always lent to the deliberations of the Board the benefits of a well-trained business mind, the result being that he and his colleagues have given the people an admirable system of county government. That Mr. Talcott possesses the confidence of the voters of his district has been well evidenced during the present campaign, and the indications are that he will be returned to office by an increased majority over that that secured his services for the county four years ago.

The alarming increase of sickness among the troops at Manila is throwing somewhat of a damper on the jubilation of the regiments now being sent there. An average of forty new cases of typhoid a day is not a pleasant thing to confront, for disease is a mighty different proposition to fight than Spaniards or rebels. However, as the sanitary conditions are said to have been thoroughly overhauled and improved of late, a diminution in the sick list in future may be reasonably anticipated. The reports that are coming from the islands, though, are convincing enough that they are not fit for Americans to live in. No colonization schemes, for instance, should be attempted there with white people.

THE LAST OF FUSION.

The repudiation of fusion is by no means confined to California, it is in evidence in every part of the country where it has been attempted. Reasonably enough, too, the objections are coming from both Democratic and Populist sources, for the general masses of each party are opposed to a system that it is patent has only been arranged in the interests of a few office-seekers. As for party principle, that has been a minor consideration for those who have been molding this alleged alliance of forces, the sole proposition uppermost in their minds being how they could divide up the political pie so as to satisfy the job-chasing elements of both parties.

It is easy to see that under such conditions no Democrat or Populist who is a member of either of those parties from a standpoint purely of principle can sanction with his vote the bartering of party honor that has taken place. Then, again, why should a Democrat vote for a Populist for Lieutenant-Governor, a Silver Republican for Clerk of the Supreme Court and a hybrid candidate for the head of the ticket? Why, too, on the same line of argument, should Populists vote for the Democrats who have been placed upon a ticket declared to represent their organization? The respectable voter sickens at the very thought of making himself a party to such a sordid transaction, for there is not one iota of principle attached to it, but simply a question of dollars and cents for the individuals it is desired to elect.

Were it a proposition of combining all the political elements of the State against a common enemy it would be an entirely different matter, but exactly the contrary is the case. The Republican party this year represents an administration that has added one of the most glorious chapters to American history, and from that standpoint is is entitled to the vote of every patriotic American citizen. In this connection it is well to mention the case of United States Senator Kyle of South Dakota, one of the acknowledged leaders of the Populist party in the country. He charges his Populist colleagues in Congress with being unpatriotic in not supporting President McKinley in a war with a common foe and adds: "I am an American citizen, proud of our country, proud of our President, proud of our army and navy and proud of our flag, and as long as I have breath to cast a vote it shall be recorded for my country, come what will."

That is the kind of spirit that should pervade the breast of every loyal citizen, and instead of there being fusion against the Republican party, there should be fusion with it. It is, however, refreshing to know that the plans of these Iscariots who have tried to sell their parties for pieces of silver for themselves have miscarried, and that the attempted fusion has brought confusion to their cause. It speaks well for American manhood and American citizenship that such has been the case, and the greatest satisfaction that the Republicans will have over the success of their ticket will be that it has been elected not only by the solid phalanxes of their own party, but by the votes of patriots who were loyal to their flag and country rather than to selfish party bosses who thought only of their own ends.

JUSTICES AND CONSTABLES.

Two young men of more than ordinary ability are running on the Republican ticket for City Justices, J. W. Stetson and Mortimer Smith being two of the brightest young lawyers in the community. Mr. Stetson is now one of the assistants to the District Attorney, in which capacity he has proved himself efficient and thorough to a high degree, and those who know him and his work are satisfied that he will make an eminently satisfactory incumbent of the City Bench. Mr. Smith has, up to date, been engaged solely in private practice, his success being so marked that there is no question as to his thorough ability and fitness to fill the office he seeks. Both he and Mr. Stetson are ardent Republicans, and have always been in the front rank whenever any work was required by the party.

J. G. Quinn, the Republican nominee for Township Justice, is another worthy aspirant for judicial honors. He hails from Emeryville, where he is respected and admired by the entire community for his uprightness of character and his zeal for the public welfare. He will make a good, faithful Justice, and should receive his full party vote.

Ed Weidler and Jack Williamson, the two candidates for Constables, are well-known and popular young men. They have already seen service as deputies, and are thoroughly qualified for the places to which they now aspire.

METCALF FOR CONGRESS.

The candidacy of Victor H. Metcalf in the Third Congressional District has been so well received that there is every assurance that he will be returned by a very large majority. Alameda county will, of course, stand by him for even more than his party vote, on account of his large personal acquaintance here, and throughout the rest of the district, advices indicate that he will be given full Republican support.

Mr. Metcalf is eminently worthy of the place of honor he seeks. His record in this community is that of an able lawyer, a zealous, enterprising citizen and a straightforward, upright man. He is well acquainted with the needs of the district, and the vigor and fighting ability he has displayed in the prominent cases in which he has figured at the bar are assurances that nothing will be lacking on either of those lines when he gets to Congress.

In Mr. Metcalf the district will not only have a wide-awake, up-to-date man, but what is more, will have a Congressman thoroughly in accord with the administration. He is Republican to the backbone, and President McKinley will have no more loyal supporter in the lower branch of Congress than the Representative from the Third District. Vote for him, therefore—he deserves it.

Don't fail to put an emphatic X opposite the name of B. C. Hawes, Republican nominee for the office of Public Administrator, when you enter the election booth next Tuesday. Mr. Hawes may not be quite so well known personally to the citizens of Oakland as some of the other candidates on the Republican ticket, but in San Leandro, where he resides, his name is regarded as a tower of strength to the whole ticket. He is a successful business man, with an unblemished record for probity, a public-spirited citizen and a courteous and accommodating gentleman—just the combination of qualities essential to the satisfactory administration of the office for which he has been nominated. It was largely through Mr. Hawes' efforts as chairman of the executive committee that the establishment of the cannery at San Leandro was recently secured. The voter who casts his ballot for Mr. Hawes for Public Administrator is voting for a man of winning personality, thorough business training and unquestioned integrity. What more could be desired?

The Department of Justice at Washington has settled an important point as regards the new bankruptcy law. One of the sections says that the United States Supreme Court shall formulate the rules for conducting the new law, and as that body has not yet performed that task, the question has been whether or not petitions in involuntary bankruptcy could be filed. This has now been decided in the affirmative, so all those who want to take advantage of the law can go right ahead without any fear of technicalities.

President McKinley has made a fitting acknowledgment of the gallantry of the black troops at the battle of San Juan by awarding commissions to those who distinguished themselves by personal bravery. The negro has always proved himself a natural-born fighter when put to the test. No cowboys are more dare-devil or reckless than the colored swingers of the lariat, and no soldiers stand up better under fire than the negro troops.

So popular is Dewey that the mere announcement by the enlisting officers East that 700 men were wanted to serve under him resulted in about three times as many applications being made as there were places for. The recruits who are to travel in the Buffalo will have the pleasure of going via the Suez Canal, where they can see the spot where Camara's badly scared squadron started in to make a home run.

Peace jubilees are in order in all directions. Chicago set the fashion, Philadelphia followed suit, and now Atlanta has swung into line. None of them, though, will be a circumstance to the one we will hold out here the day Dewey sets his foot on American soil again.

REPUBLICANS HOLD A GRAND DEMONSTRATION.

Bullshead Supper Was the Event of the Local Campaign.

Thousands of Citizens Assemble at Fruitvale And Cheer the Candidates of the Republican Party.

The grand Republican rally held at Upper Fruitvale last night was an unqualified success. Thousands of people from miles around congregated to witness one of the greatest demonstrations ever held in Alameda county. This was the opinion of all who were present and took part in the festivities. The street cars on all the lines leading to Upper Fruitvale were engaged in conveying the people to and from the Dimond estate.

People from the country towns as well as from Oakland and Alameda came in large numbers to witness the demonstration.

When the people arrived they congregated at Hopkins street and Fruitvale avenue, where a grand display of fireworks was witnessed. Huge bonfires brilliantly illuminated the scene. From Hopkins street to the Dimond estate, Fruitvale avenue was lined with Chinese lanterns, which gave the street the appearance of enchantment. The grounds of the estate were also brilliantly illuminated by lanterns, torches and candles. The evening was all that could be desired. The moon was out in all its brightness and shed a soft and fairylike light upon the whole scene.

At Hopkins street and Fruitvale avenue a torchlight procession was formed which was marshaled by Will S. Dunlevy. In the front marched J. R. Talcott, with Hugh Dimond and Ben Fennison on either side. Next came the Fifth Regiment Band, followed by the Alliance boys in their bright uniforms. The second division was headed by the Second Artillery Band, followed by the Young Men's Republican Drill Corps. Then came the Upper Fruitvale Volunteer Fire Brigade, followed by the Allendale Republican Club members. One of the men of the club carried a transparency with the following written upon the sides:

O WE HAVE WATER ON THE REDWOOD ROAD. WHO PUT IT THERE? TALCOTT. YOU BET ALLENDALE IS FOR TALCOTT.

The explanation of this transparency is that the roads had gone without being sprinkled for thirty years till Supervisor Talcott was elected, and he had sprinkling carts put on them. The rear of the procession was made up of men, women and children and extended for nearly half a mile.

Inside the grounds under the spreading oaks a temporary platform had been erected from which speeches were made. It was draped with the national colors and adorned with palms and potted plants. The audience was arranged in front of the platform, some on benches, others standing and still others on the hillside. The crowd was so large that on the outskirts the voices of the speakers could not be heard. This, however, did not dampen the enthusiasm. It needed only the sight of a Republican orator to create the wildest applause and cheering.

O J. R. TALCOTT WAS THE HERO OF THE EVENING. WHENEVER HIS NAME WAS MENTIONED HE WAS CHEERED TO THE ECHO.

DR. C. S. TISDALE.

After several selections by the band the vast assemblage was called to order by Dr. C. L. Tisdale of Alameda. It was some time, however, before his voice could be heard. He spoke in part as follows:

"It affords me great pleasure to see so many Republicans assembled before me. I know you are Republicans because I know that only Republicans would turn out in a grand demonstration such as this is. I think that Mr. Dimond and Mr. Dunlevy deserve the heartiest thanks of you and myself for providing this great treat for us. It seems to me that this is all enchantment except that you yourselves are real. I will not detain you very long, as there are candidates here this evening who will address you.

O "I AM SURE YOU ARE ALL GLAD YOU ARE REPUBLICANS, IF YOU ARE NOT YOU WILL BE AFTER NEXT TUESDAY, FOR I AM SURE THAT THE ENTIRE REPUBLICAN TICKET IS GOING TO BE ELECTED FROM TOP TO BOTTOM. THE CANDIDATES ON THE STATE AND COUNTY TICKET CANNOT LOSE."

"We have some of the best men in the State on the ticket. We are going to send Victor H. Metcalf to Congress to help carry out the administration of the last two years as only Victor H. Metcalf knows how to do it. We are going to send him back to assist in the grand work of our President, William McKinley. (Applause.) You will vote for the men who will sustain the Republican policy which says that wherever the American flag has been unfolded to the breeze there it will continue to wave, whether it be in the Philippines, where Dewey's guns have reverberated or whether it be in Cuba where Sampson's guns have thundered. (Applause.)

"I am now pleased to introduce to you the next State Senator from this district, a man who will serve you as he has served the people of Alameda for many years. A man whom you need not fear to trust with your interests, the Hon. E. K. Taylor. (Applause.)

E. K. TAYLOR.

Mr. Taylor spoke in part as follows:

"After the introduction given by the chairman, it will be unnecessary for me to go into any account of myself. I will say only this much. That if I am elected to the Senate, when I come back there will be no friend of mine who will be ashamed to take my hand. Those who write honorable before my name now will have no occasion to write dishonorable after it when I return.

"There is a saying that you can recognize a man by his acts.

O "IN LOOKING OVER YOUR GOOD ROADS HERE IT SUGGESTS TO ME THE HONORED NAME OF J. R. TALCOTT. (Cheers.)

"NEVER HAS THERE BEEN SUCH A TURN-OUT IN ALAMEDA COUNTY TO HONOR A MAN AS HAS COME OUT THIS EVENING TO HONOR J. R. TALCOTT. HE HAS DONE THE BEST THAT ANY MAN COULD DO FOR THE CITIZENS OF THIS DISTRICT. IT IS ONLY JUST THAT YOU SHOULD TURN OUT AND SHOW YOUR GRATITUDE. HE HAS BEEN GOOD, BUT NOT TO GOOD TO BE TRUE. HE HAS BEEN TRUE TO HIS PLEDGES. HE HAS BEEN TRUE TO THE COUNTY. HE HAS BEEN TRUE TO THE INTERESTS OF HIS DISTRICT. AND HE HAS BEEN TRUE TO HIMSELF AND FAMILY. I SAY HE HAS FAITHFULLY DISCHARGED HIS DUTY. NOW, THERE RESTS WITH YOU A DUTY ALSO. IT IS TO RETURN TO OFFICE THE HON. J. R. TALCOTT." (Cheers.)

FRANK C. JORDAN.

In introducing Frank C. Jordan, Dr. Tisdale spoke in part as follows: "I now have the great pleasure to introduce to you a man whose main quality is his natural modesty. A man who has worked so hard with the midnight oil in the interests of the people that he has worked most of the hair off his head. He is the best official the county ever had. No Clerk ever worked so hard (three cheers for Jordan) I see you recognize the man before I give you his name. In him above all others you have had an honest man. (Cheers.)

Mr. Jordan then spoke in part as follows: "I have been introduced to you as a bald-headed man. I know it causes a great deal of fun, but just now it stands for a protection for me. I know that our enemies are after our scalps, but they cannot grip mine because there is no place to catch hold. (Laughter.) I feel from the reception I have received this evening that my scalp is safe. (Cries of "You Bet"; "That's right.") I think I know more men in this county than any other man. I hope they will be my friends on election day. That is all I have to say about that.

O "IN MY OFFICE I HAVE TRIED TO DO MY DUTY, BE ACCOMMODATING, AND HAVE WORKED FOR THE PEOPLE AND NOT FOR ANY POLITICAL PARTY. IF I AM RE-ELECTED, I PROMISE TO GIVE YOU THE BEST ADMINISTRATION YOU HAVE EVER HAD. I CAN DO THIS BECAUSE I HAVE HAD EXPERIENCE IN THE OFFICE AND WILL NOT BE BOUND BY ANY POLITICAL TIES. THIS IS THE LAST TIME YOU WILL HAVE AN OPPORTUNITY TO VOTE FOR ME, BECAUSE I EXPECT TO STUDY FOR THE LAW. I PLEDGE YOU TO DO MY DUTY IF ELECTED.

"The other candidates are speaking before the students of the University this evening. I have neglected that meeting and have come out here that I might speak a word for your candidate for the Supervisorial office. Too often we see the man who tries to act conscientiously and tries to do his duty thrown down and forgotten when he comes before the people for re-election. There is one man, if there ever was one, who ought to have your respect and be elected to office. That man is J. R. Talcott. (Cheers.) I am a friend of his opponent, Charles W. Heyer, and am related to him. But it is necessary to reward the man who has done his duty by re-electing him. I know, because I have been associated with him, that he has been faithful, thoughtful, and conscientious. I could tell you of several instances where he has put himself out of his way when he thought that his duty required it.

O "HE HAS WORKED IN ALL KINDS OF WEATHER AND AT ALL HOURS THAT HE MIGHT DO WHAT HE CONSCIENTIOUSLY BELIEVED TO BE HIS DUTY. IT WOULD BE A SHAME NOT TO RETURN J. R. TALCOTT TO THE BOARD OF SUPERVISORS. I AM WILLING TO DO ANYTHING IN MY POWER FOR HIS SUCCESS, EVEN TO DEFEATING MYSELF. YOU OUGHT AND YOU WILL ELECT HIM. YOU SHOULD GET OUT AND GET YOUR FRIENDS OUT TO SEE THAT THIS MAN ABOVE ALL OTHERS IS PUT BACK. THE PEOPLE OF ALAMEDA COUNTY OUGHT NOT TO FAIL TO REWARD HIM." (Cheers and applause.)

The chair then introduced Miss Edwards of Fruitvale as a "Mississippi high born lady." She favored the audience with a laughable "coon song."

J. R. TALCOTT.

J. R. Talcott was introduced as the best Supervisor on the Pacific coast. He was greeted with great cheering and applause. He said in part: "It will be unnecessary for me to undertake to make much of a speech. In the first place, my voice is tired from so much talking, and in the second place, those who have preceded me have entertained you well. I see faces here this evening that greeted me four years ago when I was making a campaign for office. There is one I miss, that of my old friend Dimond. No man ever did as much for Fruitvale as did Hugh Dimond. (Applause.) He was in for every enterprise that was for the interests of the town. He has advanced the progress of Fruitvale twenty years. The family he has left are chips of the old block. They have given us such a demonstration as I have never before witnessed in Alameda county.

"I have been asked to speak about the Second Supervisorial district. It takes in two-thirds of Alameda and Brooklyn and Mt. Eden.

"WE HAVE BEEN TRYING TO MAKE THIS DISTRICT A PARADISE BY IMPROVING IT. IF I AM ELECTED AGAIN I WILL DO MY BEST TOWARD MAKING IT THE PARADISE OF ALAMEDA COUNTY, AND WHEN YOU CAN SAY THAT, YOU CAN SAY IT IS THE PARADISE OF THE STATE. (Applause.)

"It has been said that I have not done equal justice, and it has been said with some show of reason. I will show you why. The opposition candidate for Supervisor has been making the statement and repeating it that there has been during the last three years $48,000 of the city's funds used for improving the roads outside the city. I tell you that not one cent of that money has been used on the county roads outside the city limits. The law provides against it, and if such were the case the Grand Jury would have found the matter out, for their inspection of all records was very close. In levying a tax on $55,000,000, over $65,000,000 was inside the corporate limits of cities, leaving less than $20,000,000 levied in the country. On that amount the road tax levy this year has been thirty-three cents on the $100 worth of property. That is all that the Supervisors can use. Now there is a great deal of territory to cover, and if this amount is spread over all of it evenly there would be very little to show. The Board decided that out of the reserve fund that permanent improvements should be made. You can find some of this work in every district. There is a mile of this in Fruitvale, nearly a mile in Brooklyn, and in Haywards another piece has been started. When we began this work we hoped to get one line finished, but the funds gave out. The amount of tax raised in the Haywards district was small and did not go very far. Of the city tax on $65,000,000 the Supervisors can set aside as much as thirty-five per cent for a general road fund. Our amount this year will be about fifteen per cent, which will be about $10,000 which goes to that fund. Right here I wish to explain the difference between the county road fund and the general road fund, as there seems to be some misunderstanding about those terms. The county road fund is for the county alone, while the general fund may be used for roads anywhere if the Supervisors so decide by a vote of three out of the five. The general fund should not be called the emergency fund so as not to be misleading to the people. The Supervisor of a district can use the balance of the county fund for the roads of his district only, but he can also use the general fund for the building of bridges and for sprinkling purposes. The policy of this Board has been to use considerable of the general fund for bridges and sprinkling, and it will be the policy of the next Board. It is impossible to do otherwise. The Board decided that the San Leandro road should be improved. There is more travel on this road than any other in the county. The report of Superintendent of Streets Miller is that by actual count over 1,700 vehicles passed over the Twelfth street bridge in one day. Counting the travel at night, it would make about 2,200 vehicles. That is where we made the heaviest work. Further along the road we made improvements wherever they were required. We put a large amount of the work in Mt. Eden.

"I TELL YOU PEOPLE THAT I HAVE SEEN YOUR ENDEAVORS TO IMPROVE YOUR ROADS. YOU HAVE WORKED HARD AND HAVE ACCOMPLISHED A GREAT DEAL THROUGH THE AID OF YOUR IMPROVEMENT CLUB. WE MAY BE ABLE TO HELP YOUR EFFORTS IN THE FUTURE WHEN THE FUNDS ALLOTTED TO YOU ARE NOT SO SHORT.

OTHER SPEAKERS.

Oscar L. Rogers, candidate for Sheriff; George L. Nusbaumer, candidate for County Surveyor; E. C. Hawes, candidate for Public Administrator; J. R. Knowland, candidate for the Assembly, and Lorenzo D. Inskeep also made a few remarks.

A vote of thanks to Hugh Dimond and W. S. Dunlevy was then given, after which three cheers were given for the Republican ticket. The crowd was then invited to partake of a bounteous bullshead supper which had been prepared. There were two long tables extending hundreds of feet in an enclosure. The people feasted till a late hour, returning home with pleasant remembrances of one of the grandest evenings passed in Alameda county.

THE PEOPLE OF THE NATION ARE WATCHING CALIFORNIA. IF YOU ARE SATISFIED WITH THE GRAND RECORD MADE BY PRESIDENT McKINLEY THEN SUPPORT HIS ADMINISTRATION BY VOTING THE REPUBLICAN TICKET.

ROUSING RALLY LAST NIGHT AT BERKELEY.

Victor H. Metcalf and County Candidates Speak.

All Indications Point to Republican Success Tuesday.

The largest and most enthusiastic meeting held in Berkeley during the campaign took place at Shattuck Hall last evening. The booming of anvils and pyrotechnics soon brought out a crowd that filled the hall to overflowing.

H. A. Linscott called the meeting to order and introduced C. K. Clark as chairman of the evening. After a short address of welcome, Chairman Clark introduced the Hon. Victor H. Metcalf as a man who would reflect credit upon the State that sent him to Washington.

As an introduction to his remarks Mr. Metcalf stated that as he had already attended two meetings he would cut his remarks short. He referred to the prospects of the election of Henry T. Gage by a large majority which announcement was greeted with loud cheers. After speaking at some length on the national issues, the hard times as a result of the Democratic administration, and the repeal of the Sherman act he spoke of the declaration of the Democratic party that the value of silver and gold shall be fixed by international agreement and that now the orators declare that they should not wait for other nations.

The following county candidates were present and each made a short address: Judge J. J. Allen, J. Cal Ewing, H. P. Dalton, A. W. Feidler, Dr. H. B. Mehrmann, Judge James G. Quinn, Ed Weidler, Chas. H. Spear and Howard E. Wright.

J. L. Geary was introduced after the candidates had left the hall, and he made a somewhat lengthy address upon the national issues. The meeting closed with three cheers for Gage and Neff and the entire ticket.

ALAMEDA COUNTY SHOULD SEND A SOLID REPUBLICAN DELEGATION TO THE ASSEMBLY. REMEMBER A UNITED STATES SENATOR IS TO BE ELECTED NEXT YEAR.

FICKLE AUTUMN DAYS.

No Danger if Warner's Safe Cure Is Used.

A chill air and a lowering sky in the morning, a sudden rush of heat in the middle of the afternoon, then a cutting wind after sunset—such is the history of an autumn day in the north temperate zone. This is the weather that threatens not only the avowed invalids, but many who fancy themselves stronger than they are. It strikes them in the back. It stops the free action of the kidneys.

Then come feelings of cold, headache, nervousness, and, worst of all, the grinding, cutting rheumatism, which may last for years, defying common remedies, ointments, liniments, etc. The worst of diseases begin in the kidneys, and in the fickle autumn weather the seeds of danger are sown. Avoid the saddest consequences of these uncertain days. Strengthen your kidneys with Warner's Safe Cure.

P. W. Lewis of Clyde, Ohio, writes:

"I had been confined to the house for months with sciatic rheumatism, not able to get into or out of bed without help, and had despaired of ever being able to walk again. A friend advised me to take Warner's Safe Cure. I told him I had been lame so long I had no hopes of getting well. But a drowning man will grasp at a straw, so I sent for two bottles, and when I had taken them I walked to my barn, with the aid of two canes.

"I got more Warner's Safe Cure, and it served the sciatic rheumatism as Admiral Dewey served the Spanish ships at Manila. It also knocked my old enemy, kidney trouble. I was soon able to dispense with my canes and to go about my business."

The connection between the kidneys and the rheumatism was probably obvious to Mr. Lewis, but it may not be to everybody who reads the story of his recovery. The diseased kidneys, sluggish and incompetent, instead of taking dead tissue from the blood and hurrying it out of the body, acted as a dam. In such a case, with every beat of the heart, the blood is laden with a substance as truly poisonous as arsenic or strychnine. But it is a lingering poison, except when the rheumatism touches the heart; then it kills like lightning.

There is no hope for the rheumatic unless he attends to his kidneys and, by making them sound and strong, rid his system of the enemy. There is more than hope; there is certainty of renewed health in Warner's Safe Cure. Can any fair-minded man or woman doubt this, after reading Mr. Lewis' letter?

PREPARATIONS FOR WIND UP NOW COMPLETE

Alliance to Entertain at the Macdonough Tonight.

Army and Navy League Will Hold Forth Monday Evening.

The Republican Alliance will be the hosts to-night in what promises to be the grandest rally of the campaign.

A monster street parade, in which all the local clubs will participate, will be followed by a rousing meeting at the Macdonough Theater, where speeches will be made by Senator George C. Perkins and Victor H. Metcalf. Dr. Geo. C. Pardee will preside at the meeting, and there will be plenty of good music to give additional interest to the occasion.

The parade will form in front of the Athenian Club on Fourteenth street, and the line of march will be down Washington to Eighth street, along Eighth street to Broadway and up Broadway to Fourteenth, thence to the theater.

Immediately after the meeting the speakers will be entertained at Elite Hall, the headquarters of the Alliance, where a campaign banquet will be given. None but members of the Alliance in uniform and the speakers will be admitted.

THE WIND UP.

The final rally of the campaign will be held at the Tabernacle Monday night under the auspices of the Army and Navy Republican League of Alameda county. The old soldiers and sailors have made arrangements for a grand old time. The Tabernacle will be fittingly decorated with flags and bunting as well as the portraits of army and navy heroes.

Colonel George Babcock will preside, and the following speakers have been secured: Hon. Victor H. Metcalf, Hon. Tirey L. Ford, Hon. E. S. Solomon, and the county candidates.

FINALE IN ALAMEDA.

The last gun will be fired in the Republican campaign in Alameda at Armory Hall, Monday night. Hon. Victor H. Metcalf will deliver the address of the evening, and several local candidates will take part.

A rousing meeting will be held in Encinal Hall this evening.

CERTAIN OF SUCCESS.

During the last week the shells exploded in the ranks of the Independents have had a telling effect. Their power has become less and less, until now their opposition is of so little consequence that ere next Tuesday they will be entirely overlooked. The opposition to Supervisor Talcott has, beyond a doubt, been killed, and he is sure to be returned to the office which he has so ably filled for the last four years.

As for Supervisor Will H. Church, he also is certain to succeed himself. Though the Democratic manipulators have left no stone unturned to defeat him that they might control the patronage of the Board during the next two years, the tide has never turned, and the man who has so faithfully discharged his duties and who has relieved so much distress will be rewarded by re-election.

MAGUIRE CLUB.

John R. Glascock, T. C. Landregan and others will address a meeting of the Fourth Ward Maguire Club at 764 Seventh street.

DWYER AND FUSION.

J. J. Dwyer, National Democratic Committeeman, will speak at the final rally of the union forces to be held at Germania Hall Monday night.

A BRAVE, TRUE MAN.

Something About Thomas C. Landregan, Candidate For Sheriff.

Born and Raised in Alameda County and With an Unblemished Business and Personal Career.

Mr. Landregan's Friends Ask That His Character Be Investigated in Considering the Candidate For Sheriff.

Born on his father's farm at Golden Gate, in Oakland township of Alameda county, Thomas C. Landregan was reared a robust farmer's boy. Always a sober, industrious, hard working boy, young Tom succeeded his father in the management of the farm. The people who were pioneers in the section of the Landregan farm recall the eldest son—Thomas—as an open, honest and royal fellow. True to his friends, true to his word and true to the teachings instilled by his father and mother. It used to be said of him when a strapping big boy that the smaller youth seeking justice from a bully could always turn to Tom Landregan for a fair deal. When he grew to manhood he engaged in business, and no man can truthfully say that he ever paid less than one hundred cents on the dollar or violated any kind of a personal or business obligation. He is now the nominee of the Democratic, People's and Silver Republican parties. He is a man of property and of family, and has for many years maintained a splendid reputation for fair dealing with his fellow men. In the campaign now so vigorously going on for the office of Sheriff it is a matter of some pride to Mr. Landregan's friends that his reputation has in no manner been questioned. All who know him concede his sobriety, his cool judgment and his high class integrity. Mr. Landregan has made no promises of combinations to bring about his election, and in the event of being chosen for the office to which he aspires, is entirely free to conduct the office of Sheriff for the benefit of the whole people. Mr. Landregan is a middle aged man of fine, robust appearance. By thrift he has accumulated some property and is therefore concerned in the economical administration of public affairs. A correspondent of the Tribune has written this paper assailing Mr. Landregan's business and agreeing at the same time that Thomas C. Landregan is too good a man to conduct a liquor store. Upon this point there seems to be but one thing to consider. Have Mr. Landregan's business affairs been decently conducted? All must admit that they have, and should Mr. Landregan be so fortunate as to be elected he assures his friends that his interest in the liquor business will cease and his entire time go to the people who have honored him. Mr. Landregan believes that his life in this community has been well spent, and he invites scrutination of his character and fitness for the position he seeks.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars; free.

DAMAGED BY FIRE!

At ACKERMAN'S GREAT FIRE SALE a person was heard to remark, "What a pity such a beautiful stock was damaged by fire." Yes, the stock is beautiful. It was to be our 1898 Holiday Stock. Society People Attend Many Pleasant Functions.

Weddings and Receptions During the Past Week.

SOME EVENTS IN THE FUTURE.

The Meddler Talks About Swell Affairs in Society Circles.

The season is so very much gayer than we had any right to expect. In no way has the recent commercial prosperity of California been more marked than in the awakened social life. Really, it is quite a vortex and we are so glad to have a chance to rush about once more—to run, not from pillar to post but from tea to tea. It is so pleasant to count your engagements over on your fingers, instead of on your thumb.

And by the way there is a new and particular engagement which will be of considerable interest to a good many of you. Miss Ethel Bates, the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Bates, is engaged to Mr. Herbert Lee of Portland, Oregon, where the Bates family lived not so long ago.

Ethel Bates is a handsome and popular girl. She has not appeared much in society but she goes in for athletics and has the ruddiest, prettiest, coat of tan. She has dimples, too, and is altogether a most wholesome-looking girl. I have not heard of the date of the wedding but I suppose the young people will live in Portland. Another sister, Mac Bates, married young Dr. Martin and lives in Berlin—the real Berlin. Another married sister is Mrs. Carl Knight and lives in Oakland. The third sister is Miss Ada Bates. The Bates have recently moved into a charming home on Vernon Heights where the wedding will take place.

* * *

The dinner of the season was given by Mrs. H. K. Belden on Wednesday night in honor of the two recently engaged couples, Miss Abbie Clift and Mr. Irving Lundborg, and Miss Grace Gorrill and Mr. Oscar Gowing. I'm afraid that all the other very young people who were there envied these engaged children and that it will have a devastating effect upon the younger set, but the fact remains that most of our very young people are too poor to marry and therein lies the safety.

I don't think I ever saw a prettier table—just like a bride's table, only prettier than most. In the center was a huge bunch of the pure waxen Nephetos roses, and grouped about it were candelabra, all under the daintiest white silk shades, and at the table corners four hearts of fragrant, old-fashioned, pink sweet peas, all tied together with ribbons. The name cards were be-ribboned hearts, with mottoes, and on the chair of the two prospective brides bunches of Nephetos roses had been tied. The grooms' chairs were ornamented with the proverbial old shoe. There were pretty favors and all the girls were in pretty fresh gowns. The eighteen guests were Misses Abbie Clift, Grace Gorrill, Pauline Fore, Sadie Hale, Bessie Palmer, Gertrude Allen, Edith Selby, Blanche and Florence Sharon, and Messrs. Irving Lundborg, Oscar Gowing, Dan Belden, the host, Silas Palmer, Will Cook, Harry Farr, Will Lund, Will Mein, and Tom and Will Olney.

There were two weddings this week—was a pink and white wedding, strung geraniums and smilax being extensively used and there was a chime of the familiar old wedding bells which have not been used much of late, but of which one does not easily tire. The ceremony which Dr. Ritchie performed, took place in the large hall. It was an attractive wedding procession, the bride with her attendants, all being pretty girls. The maid of honor that of Isabelle Taylor, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James H. Taylor, and Mr. Clyde Carman, and the wedding on Tuesday evening in East Oakland of Rev. Herbert Thomson, and Miss De Ette Price.

The Taylor wedding was quite a large affair with a number of guests and many pretty gifts which will go far toward beautifying the little home at Sixteenth and Linden street. It was Miss Gussie Evans, the fiancee of the bride's brother, and the bridesmaids were Miss Dorothy Kelly of Alameda, Miss Ladd and Miss Phillips. The bride wore white satin with a long veil and some point lace. She carried white roses. The bridesmaids were in pink silk. Marshall Dusinbury was the best man while the ushers were Messrs Taylor, Alexander, Youngberg, and Swales. The bridal table was in pink and the congratulations which followed the ceremony were unusually heartfelt. When the bride came to throw her boquet it was captured by Miss Jackson, and the ring in the cake went to Miss Gussie Evans. The bridal journey will take the lovers to Southern California, I believe.

The Price wedding in East Oakland was a very quiet affair. The bride's parents have a very handsome home in Highland Park, but whether it was owing to the groom's calling or the bride's taste very few but those related and the most intimate friends were bidden to the wedding feast. It was a very pretty wedding, too, and it always seems a pity to me that every one cannot see the pretty function that changes a girl's name and sends her into another and very different career. Miss Price is a pretty blonde and made a lovely bride.

Dr. and Mrs. Morse (nee Dora Craig) have taken up their residence at the Albany Hotel, since their return from the wedding tour.

* * *

Mrs. George Hammer, (nee Blix Smith,) has been extremely ill from an attack of pneumonia. At present she is at the home of her mother in Thirteenth avenue, East Oakland. The Hammers have been residing there since their marriage.

* * *

Mrs. William H. Morrison, (nee Adele Hyde,) another of this season's brides, gave a very pretty tea last Tuesday at her home on Orange street. The Morrison's house is very attractive, both the bride and her sister, Josephine Hyde, being artistic. The house was decorated sparingly in the best of taste Have you ever realized that a carload of flowers is sometimes exceeding bad form? Quite a large number of cards were sent out. Among those who assisted Mrs. Morrison in receiving were Miss Josephine Hyde, Mrs. Dr. Nicholson, and the Misses Mahoney.

* * *

On Saturday, the 5th, Mrs. Fred Merritt is to give a large luncheon. On that day a good many of us will go to the city, where there are several large affairs. Mrs. Loughborough gives a large tea—the first big entertainment since she came out of mourning. There will also be the Cushion Tea, for the benefit of the Woman's Exchange at the home of Mrs. M. H. De Young on California street. Half of the fashionable women of the town are patronesses at the latter function. There are also the Heinrichs, whom we have not half appreciated. They gave another of their charming matinee recitals here on Wednesday afternoon, but again the crowd was not near as large as it should have been. How many times shall I have to warn you that real artists will give us the go-by if we behave so?

There were very few Hallowe'en parties this year, which seemed to me strange—there is such an opportunity to have a good time on that night. Miss Stonisifer gave a Hallowe'en party which was almost the only one, except one given to several members of the Fifty-first Iowa Regiment by Mrs. H. B. Pinney of Eleventh street.

* * *

Interest in the Hush tea is still unabated. A great number of young matrons and girls from this city and from San Francisco have been invited to assist in receiving the hundreds of invited guests. Among them are: Mrs. Oscar Long, Mrs. H. M. A. Miller, Mrs. Joseph Tobin, Mrs. George W. McNear, Jr., Mrs. P. E. Bowles, Mrs. Seward McNear, Mrs. Churchill, Miss Kate Clement, Miss Nellie Chabot, Miss Ella Goodall, Mrs. Mark Requa, Mrs. Robert Knight, Mrs. Harry Adams, Mrs. Edson Adams, Mrs. C. O. Alexander, Mrs. Will Ralston, Mrs. Harry Hinckley, Mrs. Harry Knowles, Mrs. Frank Wilson, Mrs. Charles Bliss, and Mrs. W. Henshaw. There will also be a number of the younger set, among them the Misses Marietta Havens, Ethel Pomroy, Pauline, Genevieve and Ione Fore, Grace Gorrill, Abbie Clift, Florence and Blanche Sharon, Harriet Kittredge, Elsie Marwedel, Gertrude Allen, Bessie Palmer, Caroline and Sallie Quinan, Emma Grimwood, Edith and Norma Preston, Mat Denman, Grace Baldwin, Grace Sanborn, Edith Selby, and Irene Baker.

* * *

Mrs. Harry Haight has gone to Mexico with a party of friends, where she intends remaining all winter. Gertrude is rather a frail young woman, and this trip is taken with the hope of improving her health.

Mrs. A. C. Hampton, who has been so critically ill, is slowly but surely regaining her strength. Her daughter, Miss Sallie Hampton, is one of the attractive young teachers of the Cole School.

* * *

The Winter Cotillion met again Friday night. Midge Mobre and Arthur Kales led the german very smoothly. Midge was gowned in some thin yellow material and looked very charming. Her pink dimpled arms are simply lovely. Arthur Kales made a fine appearance. There are so many pretty girls in this club it is a pleasure to watch them. Edna Barry is a little beauty, and one of the tallest and, I think, the handsomest, boy is Whipple Hall, whose mother was beautiful Daisy Spear. Years ago she was one of San Francisco's loveliest school girls. I say school girl advisedly, as Daisy married immediately upon bidding her books good bye.

* * *

Mrs. Requa is an exemplification of the fact that the milk of human kindness flows through some of us, at least, with a strong, steady current. Her charities are endless, unostentatious, but effective. It would do your heart good to see the comfortable surroundings of one poor, old creature she has taken under her protecting wing. A cosy cottage near the convalescing home has been rented and furnished with every necessity and many comforts. Mrs. Requa's protege is poor, old, and helpless, three afflictions that it would be hard to choose from. Peace, however, has spread its wings over this little cottage, for the old inmate knows that her remaining days will pass without care, and her old head will have a place to rest until the end comes. What a privilege it is to be born with a kind heart and money to carry out its great impulses.

* * *

The last Fortnightly was led by Ione Fore and Philip Clay, and there were several pretty figures. All the prominent girls of the younger set were in the first set, among them Jean and Florence Hush, and all the girls whose sparkling solitaires make them objects of special and somewhat envious interest just now.

* * *

The Thursday Evening Club, which meets for the first time next week, is another of the innumerable dancing clubs that have started up this season. The cotillion will be led by Sara Dunn and Ed Sessions. There is scarcely a night when Reed's Hall is obtainable, and the season, especially for the dancers, has gay vistas ahead.

* * *

These affairs, with the teas innumerable, for Mrs. Bowles' big affair comes off on the 12th, and Mrs. Emmet Nicholson is to give a tea the following week, will keep us from being bored for some time to come, and that is a great relief to

THE MEDDLER.

THE HUSH TEA.

The closing and unquestionably the grandest social event of next week will be the tea and reception which is to be held at the Hush residence at Etnemere and which will continue from 3 o'clock P. M. until 7 o'clock in the evening, the occasion being the entree into social life of Miss Jean May Hush and Florence Beal Hush, the charming and talented daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Valentine G. Hush and sisters of Mrs. Thomas and Mrs. William Magee.

Even in this city, where there are hundreds of families with budding daughters who are capable of making a favorable impression on entering the social world, it may be doubted if any event of this kind which has heretofore attended an Oakland belle's coming out will compare with the coming function. There has been no detail lost sight of. Everything will be on a scale of completeness and richness in keeping with the standing of the family. The toilets which will signalize the event will be from the latest creations of the modistes.

Mrs Hush will be assisted in receiving by Mrs. Harry Hinckley, Mrs. Will Ralston, Miss Kate Clement, Mrs. Oscar Long, Mrs. Mark Requa, Mrs. Edson Adams, Mrs. Robert Knight, Mrs. Harry Knowles, Mrs. Charles Bliss, Mrs. Harry Adams, Mrs. Frank M. Wilson, Mrs. Will Henshaw, Mrs. George Greenwood, Mrs. H. M. A. Miller, Mrs. Tom Magee, Mrs. W. Magee, Mrs. Joe Tobin, Mrs. P. E. Bowles, Mrs. Churchill, Miss Ella Goodall, Miss Nellie Chabot, Mrs. George W. McNear Jr., Mrs. Seward McNear and Mrs. C. O. Alexander.

Misses Jean and Florence Hush will have as their assistants Misses Pauline, Ione and Genevieve Fore, Grace Gorrill, Harriet Kittredge, Florence and Blanche Sharon, Irene Baker, Elsie Marwedel, Gertrude Allen, Bessie Palmer, Grace Sanborn, Carolyn and Sally Quinan, Edith Selby, Emma Grimwood, Abbie Clift, Ethel Pomroy and Marietta Havens from this city, and from San Francisco Edith and Norma Preston, Grace Baldwin, May Denman.

There will be a large number of guests, because invitations have been sent to the 1,500 friends whom the Hushes have among their acquaintances.

FAREWELL SURPRISE.

The friends of Mr. and Mrs. Renwick gathered at their home near Fitchburg on Thursday evening to give them a farewell surprise. Mr. and Mrs. Renwick have lived here for nearly seventeen years, but recently Mr. Renwick purchased a farm near Napa and will remove his family to their new home soon. time soon.

It was to show the warm appreciation and esteem in which the family are held by their friends and neighbors that the surprise was given. A short program was rendered, and the Rev. Mr. Kruse delivered an address, to which Mrs. Renwick responded. Dainty refreshments were served during the evening. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Newth, Mr. and Mrs. George Godfrey, Mr. and Mrs. Kemble, Rev. and Mrs. Kruse, Mr. and Mrs. Hazeltine, Mr. and Mrs. Donland, Mr. and Mrs. Fields, Mr. and Mrs. Jackson, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Damon, Mr. and Mrs. Gibbs, Mr. and Mrs. Lang, Mr. and Mrs. Fish, Mr. and Mrs. Silva, Mr. and Mrs. Gates, Mrs. J. J. Jones Sh., W. R. Hughes and Mrs. Doneran.

THE RAG TAGS' HOP.

The Rag Tags gave their second dance of the season at Pythian Hall last Tuesday evening. The affair was admirably managed, and was greatly enjoyed by those participating in it. The music was excellent, the floor in perfect condition for dancing and the attendance large. Floor Manager W. J. Agnew, the president of the club, and his lieutenants, J. E. Walsh and S. Waltz, overlooked nothing that could add to the pleasure of their guests. The club will give a prize masquerade on Tuesday evening, December 6th, at Pythian Hall.

ENTRE NOUS.

The Entre Nous dancing club held its first meeting of the season at Masonic Hall last Saturday evening, amid evergreens, palms and inspiring music. Although the attendance was rather light, even for the opening of the season, the pleasure for those who did attend was as great as that afforded last season. Many new faces were noticed among the dancers, and the young ladies seemed all new when judged by their dresses, many of which were very rich and beautiful. The club will hold its second meeting next Saturday evening.

Author's Name.

Last Saturday evening a gentleman, whose name was not given, telephoned to the president of the Ebell Society, inquiring the name of the author of the poem:

"I am dying, Egypt, dying!"

The answer to the inquiry is that the beautiful poem was written by the lamented General William H. Lytle, formerly a prominent member of the Cincinnati bar—a gentleman of fine literary culture, who served with great gallantry during the Mexican war, and was among the first to tender his services to the Government at the commencement of the war of the rebellion. After being wounded in several engagements, and promoted to high rank, he was killed at the battle of Chickamauga while bravely leading his troops to victory.

CLUB OF '97.

The club of '97 gave its first social for the season of '98-'99 at Masonic Hall, Thursday evening, October 27th. The evening proved as enjoyable as the parties of the club for the last two seasons have been.

The organization was effected in November of 1896, and among its members are the sons and daughters of many representative families of Alameda county.

The membership, this season, will be limited to sixty, and each member will be allowed to bring a friend to the cotillions.

The party last Thursday was a very pretty one. The decorations were very fine, and many attractive gowns gave color to the scene. One hundred and fifty couples took part in the march.

Harry Williams was floor manager and his assistants were A. B. Swanger, F. J. Stoer, G. F. Eggers, H. E. Taber and M. Glas.

The next cotillion will be given November 10th, and others will be held at intervals throughout the season.

The directors of the club are H. G. Williams, M. Glas, H. E. Taber and A. B. Swanger.

PRICE-THOMSON.

A very pretty home wedding took place Tuesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Price, 1709 Nineteenth avenue, when their daughter, De Ette, was joined in marriage to the Rev. Herbert Thomson of Crawfordsville, Indiana.

It was a green and white wedding, and the rooms were beautifully decorated with garlands of smilax, ferns, and huge bunches of white chrysanthemums.

The impressive ceremony took place in the library and was witnessed only by relatives and near friends of the young couple.

The room was decorated with festoons of feathery acacia and pepper tied with large bows of white ribbon, palms, ferns, and other tropical plants.

The bridal bower was of smilax and from the center was suspended by long, white ribbons a beautiful wedding bell of white chrysanthemums.

The wedding procession was formed upstairs and as it slowly descended the staircase Miss Eugene Loy sang, very effectively, "O Promise Me." Harvey Loy played the wedding chorus from Lohengrin as the bridal party entered the parlors. It was an extremely pretty picture. The groom and the best man, the Rev. H. D. Brasefield, led and were followed by Miss Mary Elizabeth Francis, the maid of honor, and last of all, came the beautiful bride leaning on the arm of her father.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. S. Goodenough of this city.

The bride looked lovely in a gown of white mousseline de soie over taffeta silk, and trimmed with seed pearls. She wore a veil which was caught up with orange blossoms, and held in place by a handsome clasp of pearls, the gift of the groom. She carried a shower boquet of white roses. Miss Frances, the maid of honor, wore a pretty gown of white organdie, trimmed with lavender ribbons. She carried violets, the favorite flower of the bride.

After the ceremony there were congratulations and many good wishes, and then all adjourned to the dining room where a dainty wedding supper was served. The bride's table looked very artistic with its decorations of La France roses and maiden-hair fern.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas have gone East on a wedding trip, and will visit the childhood home of the groom.

Miss Lorena Gibson caught the bride's bouquet.

Many beautiful gifts were received. Friends will be extremely sorry to hear that the new home of the young couple is to be in the East, where the groom has recently been called. They have taken with them the hearty good wishes of a host of friends in this city. The couple will be located at Wilbeur, Washington.

HALLOWE'EN FESTIVITY.

Miss Addie Smith and Miss Louise Hering gave a reception last Monday evening to the choir of the First Methodist Church. The affair took place at Miss Smith's residence, corner of Twelfth and Jefferson streets. The reception proved to be quite a social event.

A CHARMING DINNER.

A charming dinner was given by Mrs. H. K. Belden Wednesday evening, in honor of the engagement of Miss Abbie Clift and Irving Lundborg.

The decorations of the table were very pretty, all in white flowers and maiden-hair fern. In the center was a bunch of white roses, and several lovers' hearts of white sweet peas were arranged about the table.

The name cards were dainty, heart-shaped affairs, and the pretty favors were also of the same order.

On Miss Clift's chair was a large bunch of bride's roses, tied with a bow of white satin ribbon, and for Mr. Lundborg there were two old shoes tied to this chair with long white streamers.

There were eighteen guests, and a very enjoyable evening was spent by all. Many congratulations and good wishes were showered on the young couple.

Among the guests were the Misses Abbie Clift, Grace Gorrill, Edith Selby, Bessie Palmer, Florence and Blanche Sharon, Sadie Hale, Gertrude Allen, Messrs. Irving Lundborg, Oscar Gowing, Harry Farr, Will and Tom Olney, Silas Palmer, Will Cook, M. Lund, and Will Mein.

DEGREE OF HONOR.

The apron and necktie party given Wednesday evening in A. O. U. W. Hall under the auspices of Ivy Lodge, No. 4, Degree of Honor, A. O. U. W., was an artistic, social, and financial success. The following excellent programme was admirably rendered: Piano duet by Miss Hacton and Mrs. Holmes; recitation, Little Clara Isaacs; French specialty, Sawyer Sisters, pupils of Sister Anna Donaldson; piano selection, Miss Pauline Kessler; cornet solo, Miss Maggie Bassett; fancy dance, Miss Irene Holmes; vocal solo, Miss Maggie Bassett. Brother J. H. Holmes officiated as floor manager at the dance which followed the literary and musical portion, in a very able manner. Dr. Herrick was an able assistant to the floor manager. The committee of arrangements, Mrs. Captain Mitchell, chairman; chief of honor, Mrs. Wilkinson; lady of honor, Mrs. Garrison; Sisters Richman, Littlefield, and Jacobsen deserve great credit for their indefatigable work in getting up such a successful entertainment in the short time at their disposal.

When a young woman sits down and ponders over her future life, there is one all-important subject which she should not forget. In a day dream she may build castles in the air with a happy home, laughing children and a loving husband in the fore-ground. At that moment she may be facing death. Matrimony and motherhood hold out no happiness to the young woman who suffers from weakness and disease of the distinctly feminine organism. The woman who suffers in this way will be a weak, nervous, sickly, petulant wife, an incapable mother and an unamiable hostess. Not knowing the truth, her acquaintances will not understand that she is deserving of pity rather than reproach.

Any woman may be strong and healthy in a womanly way if she will use the right remedy. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the best of all medicines for weak and ailing women. It acts directly on the delicate and important organs that make wifehood and motherhood possible. It makes them strong, healthy and vigorous. It banishes the dangers that surround maternity. It insures a healthy baby and an ample supply of nourishment. Thousands of women who were weak, sickly, nervous invalids, are now healthy, robust wives and competent mothers of healthy children, as the result of the use of this medicine.

Mrs. John M. Conklin, of Patterson, Putnam Co., N. Y., (Box 104), writes: "I am enjoying perfect health and have been since I took the last bottle of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. I had failing of the internal organs, or female weakness, and flowing caused by miscarriage, and was very weak when I commenced taking your medicine."

The unfailing, never-griping cure for constipation—Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets.

Malaria is caused by bad air, bad water, bad drainage, which make bad blood. Hood's Sarsaparilla cures malaria by purifying the blood. Read this interesting statement:

"I was confined to my bed with malaria. I could not take strong medicines, owing to my condition, and everything I took failed to help me. At last I decided to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. After taking it a short time the malaria was entirely gone and I have never had it since. I began to improve with the very first dose of Hood's Sarsaparilla. I am now strong and well." MRS. A. M. CHINESE MOBS ARE ATTACKING THE CHRISTIANS

Fruitless Appeals of Consuls to Peking Authorities.

SEATTLE, Wash., Nov. 5.—The Kobe News, under date of October 14, says:

The latest telegrams respecting the risings in the neighborhood of Chung King, state that it is a movement against the missionaries on the part of a marauding band led by one Yu Mak Tse. The French church, hospital, and school and also the American Methodist church at Hong Chau, about fifty miles from Chung King, have been destroyed. The ranks of the marauders are constantly being swelled, and the lawless mob now numbers about 25,000, most of them being armed with antiquated rifles, but the leader's own guard of about 100 men is armed with Winchester rifles. There are about thirty English and American subjects living at Chung King. Mr. Smithers is the United States Consul there. The Consuls are stated to have wired to their respective Ministers at Peking requesting that pressure be brought to bear on the Viceroy to send troops to suppress the riots: but owing to political changes at Peking, the government, it is said, will not be able to comply with the order.

The general in command of the garrison at Cheng Tu has committed suicide to escape punishment for not suppressing the rioters.

The English and American residents of Chung King have left the city and gone down the river to a place of safety.

The home department of the Japanese government is making an investigation with the object of placing churches and Buddhist temples under the same regulations.

Under the present law Buddhist priests are debarred from sitting in the Diet, although Japanese Christian pastors are permitted there; but, on the other hand a Buddhist temple is exempt from taxation, while a Christian church is not.

TAYLOR-CARMEN.

The event of the week in local society circles was the wedding, Wednesday evening of Miss Isabelle Louise Taylor and Clyde Davenport Carmen. It was a home wedding, and took place at the residence of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. M. Taylor, 1368 Webster street.

The house was beautifully decorated everything being arranged to give new and striking effects.

The music and drawing-rooms were in yellow. Branches of feathery acacia, in full bloom, palms leaves and quantities of bamboo were artistically arranged. Magnolia boughs and bunches of bright yellow chrysanthemums almost hid the pretty mantel from view, and yellow ribbons stretched from the chandeliers about the room, giving a very fine effect. The reception room was very pretty in a color scheme of pink.

The ceremony was performed in the spacious hall, which was truly an ideal place for a wedding. The decorations were especially pretty. Garlands of smilax stretched from corner to corner, and the bay window was converted into a bower by festoons of smilax and a lovely background of palms, ferns and other tropical plants. Suspended from overhead by long, white ribbons were three large wedding bells of pink ribbon and large palm leaves that reached nearly to the ceiling, gave the effect of a garden. The huge fireplace was banked with magnolia boughs and masses of shaggy pink chrysanthemums. Portieres of pink geranium blossoms draped the doorways.

The bridal procession moved slowly through the rooms to the music of Lohengrin's "Wedding Chorus," and advanced to the bay window, where they stood while the ceremony was performed.

The bride looked very lovely in a gown of heavy white duchesse satin, made en traine and trimmed with rare old point lace. She wore a veil and carried a bouquet of bride's roses.

The maid-of-honor, Miss Augusta D. Evans, was gowned in white tulle made over taffeta silk. She carried a large bunch of bridesmaid roses.

The four bridesmaids, Mabel Phillips, Fanny Laird, Lelia McKillican and Daisy Kelley, were dressed alike in pink taffeta silk.

Marshall Dusinberry attended the groom, and Messrs. Alexander, Swayle, Youngberg and Taylor acted as ushers.

The Rev. Robert Ritchie of St. Paul's Church performed the very impressive ceremony.

After the congratulations a wedding supper was served in the dining room, which was beautifully decorated in pink and white.

The bride's table, at which were seated twenty-four persons, was especially pretty with its decoration of La France roses and pink ribbons. The ring in the cake was found by Miss Agusta Evans.

After supper there was dancing, and the hours passed rapidly away. Mr. and Mrs. Carmen departed under a shower of rice and good wishes. The bridal bouquet was captured by Miss Jackson. On Thursday the couple departed for a trip through Southern California, and after their return will reside in a pretty home on Linden and Sixteenth streets.

Many beautiful gifts of silver and cut glass were received. There were about two hundred guests present, among whom were: Mr. and Mrs. Wickham Havens, Mr. and Mrs. Remillard, Mrs. M. J. Goodfellow, Mr. and Mrs. George Harmon, Mr. and Mrs. P. G. Kenna, Miss Middleton, Miss Olive Middleton, Mr. and Mrs. E. Rice, Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Carman, Ralph Carman, Mrs. Gilison, Mr. and Mrs. James Snook, Mr. and Mrs. William Starr, Mrs. H. D. Montell, Mr. and Mrs. P. G. Kenna and the Misses Kenna, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Lovell, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Morrison Jr., Mr. and Mrs. James Maclise, Mr. and Mrs. Mayhew, Miss Florence Mayhew, Ed Rice, Miss Octavia Rice, Mrs. James Merritt, Mrs. Rand, Miss Lula Rued, Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Campbell, Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Dearing, Mr. and Mrs. Ellsworth, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Stewart, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick, Mr. and Mrs. McKillican, Miss McKillican and Anthony Kaiser.

NORTON-CASE.

The Rev. Alfred J. Case of Stockton and Miss Katherine Norton of Alameda were quietly married at the residence of the bride's cousin, Mrs. J. Jamison, 2249 San Jose avenue, Alameda, on Thursday afternoon, October 26th. Only a few intimate friends witnessed the impressive ceremony which was performed by Rev. J. N. Beard of Grace Church, San Francisco. The bridesmaid was Miss Lida Benedict of Napa, and the Rev. Robert Treverrow acted as best man. The bride is a recent graduate of Stanford University, and is a favorite in society. The groom is pastor of the Methodist Church of Stockton, and is favorably known to a large circle of friends throughout the State. Mr. and Mrs. Case will make their home in Stockton.

On Wednesday afternoon, the installation of the newly-elected officers of the Catholic Ladies' Aid Society, took place in Y. M. I. Hall on Eleventh street and Broadway. The committee has been busy making all the arrangements, and the ball will undoubtedly be a very successful affair. Ten valuable prizes will be given for the best sustained characters. Good music has been engaged for the evening, and a large attendance is expected.

SENIOR RECEPTION.

The senior class of the State University gave a reception and social Wednesday evening in Stile's Hall. The hall looked very bright and attractive with its pretty decoration of Christmas berries and green foliage, caught up with large bows of red ribbon.

The affair was a thoroughly enjoyable one, the committee making each guest feel at home at once, and a genial friendliness was everywhere noticeable.

College songs were sung, and many bright, original games were played throughout the evening.

An address by Professor Du Pont Syle was greatly enjoyed by the class.

Dainty refreshments were served, and the evening was a success in every way.

Another social evening is being arranged for early in January.

Many of the college faculty were present, among whom were noticed Professor Putzker, Dr. Stratton, Dr. Price and Professor Rising.

FUN ON HALLOWE'EN.

Miss Stella Coolidge of East Oakland entertained a number of her friends at her home, with a Hallowe'en party Monday evening. The rooms of the house were prettily decorated with chrysanthemums, palms, ivy, and Japanese lanterns. The evening was pleasantly passed with music, dancing, and Hallowe'en games, after which dainty refreshments were served. Miss Coolidge made a charming hostess and the evening was thoroughly enjoyed by her guests. Among those present were: Misses Mabel, Stella, and Ethel Adams, Zeta Fuller, Edna Price, Bertha Greenleaf, Mrs. Baker, Mrs. Adams, Mrs. Coolidge, Messrs. W. Wands, W. H. Biers, Geo. D. Tyler, D. Woodrum, C. S. Jungk, Dr. E. R. Tait, Dr. Paul Mariotte, and Dr. J. C. Gilbertsen.

PROGRESSIVE DINNERS.

The ladies living on Vernon Heights have always shown great originality in their method of entertaining, and have now hit upon the bright plan of having progressive dinners.

A series of dinners will be given on Friday evenings for five weeks.

There will be ten guests at the tables, and all are neighbors and very congenial people.

The first dinner of the series was given last evening and was an extremely bright and enjoyable affair. The soup was eaten at Mrs. Coffin's, the entree at Mrs. Vahn's table, Mrs. Eby served the salad, Mrs. Leyman was the hostess for the roast and desert was enjoyed at the home of Mrs. Cotton.

The guests at this unique dinner were Mr. and Mrs. Coffin, Mr. and Mrs. Vahn, Mr. and Mrs. Eby, Mr. and Mrs. Leyman, and Mr. and Mrs. Cotton.

CENTENNIAL BALL.

Last night the grand century ball of Division No. 1 of Alameda county, Ancient Order of Hiberanians in America, was given at Germania Hall, and a most enjoyable affair it turned out to be. The hall was finely decorated for the occasion, and there was an attendance of youth, beauty and chivalry which always characterize the social gatherings of this organization. The galleries were filled with spectators, who had frequently distinguished themselves on the floor, but whom increasing years and infirmity had deprived of the desire to indulge in the pleasures of the dance. There was also present a large number of gentlemen who aspire to places of honor and trust in the State and county, and these divided the pleasure of the occasion with their friends and constituents.

The grand march took place at 9:30 o'clock, and was led by a pair of most graceful dancers, Miss Aggie Murry and M. J. Dolan, the latter the painstaking and courteous chief in the management of the floor. The music was excellent and the enjoyment was continued without an event to mar it until an early hour this morning.

The management of the ball was in the hands of the following:

Floor manager, M. J. Dolan; assistant, B. Duffy.

Floor Committee—B. Finnegan, P. L. Duffy, M. Kennedy, T. Walsh.

Reception Committee—Martin McDonough, John Fegnum, John Fennessy, W. O'Connell.

INVESTIGATOR. Doctor, what do you think of this as a testimonial for a dyspepsia cure? I am a pressman living in East New York and work in New York City. For many years I have been troubled with bleeding piles which always bothered me. Though I tried a great many remedies I decided long ago that there was no medicine which could cure them and had determined that I must go on and bear it. Without any thought about Ripans Tabules other than a medicine for disordered stomach I took a half dozen and noticed a decided improvement in my condition. I kept on taking them regularly for a few weeks and my piles disappeared absolutely. It is weeks now since I took my last Tabule and I feel better in every way for my experience with them. Ripans Tabules are the only medicine I have taken in a year.

DOCTOR. In a case of bleeding piles, aggravated by constipation, the Ripans Tabules would in frequent cases give marked relief and in many cases apparently effect a cure. The Tabules did not cure the piles but they cured the constipation and then the piles disappeared. There is nothing wonderful or even unusual about it.

A new style packet containing TEN RIPANS TABULES in a paper carton (without glass) is now for sale at some drug stores—FOR FIVE CENTS. This low-priced sort is intended for the poor and the economical. One dozen of the five-cent cartons (120 tabules) can be had by mail by sending forty-eight cents to the RIPANS CHEMICAL COMPANY, No. 10 Spruce Street, New York—or a single carton (TEN TABULES) will be sent for five cents.

CLAIMED FOR GAGE BY 15,000 MAJORITY

Election Estimates of the Republican State Committee.

How it is Anticipated the Vote Will Go in the Various Counties---What is Said at the Democratic Headquarters---Betting on the Result---Effect of the Father Yorke Incident---Patton and Phelan Are Running Close.

(Special to the Tribune.)

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 5.—The threatened bombshell came this week, but it was from a quarter that no one had anticipated. The Father Yorke matter has undoubtedly been "the" incident of the campaign up to date, and speculation as to the result has entirely changed since its injection into the contest.

Opinions vary as to what the result will be. Some say that it will have the effect of hurting Maguire in the city and helping him in the country, while others have the idea that it will cost him votes by the hundred all along the line. As for Phelan, the general impression is that it will lose him the fight, especially in view of the fact that he was not satisfied with one volley as Maguire was, but deliberately invited a couple more broadsides. No matter how it is figured it is very certain, anyhow, that the trouble has done no good to either Phelan or Maguire, while on the other hand it has probably wrought a great deal of harm to them.

The Republicans naturally think now that everything is coming Gage's way and their estimates of his majority are growing hourly as the various reports come in. Figuring in what they consider a very conservative manner, they give him from 10,000 to 15,000 majority Major McLaughlin being so enthusiastic in his ideas on the subject that he has made a bet of $500 with W. W. Foote that Gage will carry the State by 20,000.

The betting, by the way, has veered around a good deal during the past two or three days. Before the Father Yorke matter Phelan was favorite over Patton at odds of from 10 to 8 to 10 to 9. Now Patton is the favorite and Phelan money is hard to find. In the Gubernatorial fight the Gage men have finally been compelled to concede a point in order to get their money up, and the quotation is now 5 to 4 in Gage's favor. Paris Kilburn made one bet of $500 on Gage at those figures during the week, and gave $10 besides for the privilege of the wager.

Considerable money will change hands on the result the way things are going now, $20,000 having been wagered during the past few days in one resort alone. There is one bet on record that the man who is on the long end would like to withdraw. It is of $1,000 to $350 on Phelan, and was made the night he was nominated, he at that time being regarded as an absolute certainty.

Returning to the question of majorities, it is interesting to know how the Republicans figure they are going to fare in the various sections of the State. Col. L. L. Bromwell, the corresponding secretary of the State Central Committee, has charge of a chart that is supposed to show just the way things will go, and through his courtesy I am here enabled to reproduce the official forecast of the result, figured and estimated from the reports received at headquarters. "The information upon which this chart is based," said Col. Bromwell, "does not come from one channel, but from a variety of sources. First, we have our speakers, then the chairmen and secretaries of the County Committees, correspondents, canvassers and traveling men. The figures given are by no means extravagant, either as, for instance, in the case of Los Angeles, where we only claim 3,500, though some of our reports run as high as 5,000.

"Our advices satisfy us that Gage will come to San Francisco with a majority of 18,000, and in view of the prevailing conditions here, we do not think that Maguire will get more than 3,000 majority at the outside in the metropolis. In the extreme southern part of the State Gage will poll an enormous vote, and we expect him to cross Tehachapi with fully 9,000 to his credit.

"Never before has there been a campaign in my recollection in which everything has been so ultra Republican as the present one. Even from what have hitherto been considered Democratic strongholds we get advices of great Gage strength and it would not be so very surprising if he should receive a majority in every county in the State.

"One little matter that may interest you is that we have here a list of 18,000 Republicans and conservative Democrats all of whom are working for Gage. Our fight is splendidly organized throughout the State, and it will be kept up to the very last moment. I am today sending out a circular letter to the chairmen of every Republican County Central Committee in the State exhorting him to do all in his power during these last few hours and to be on the alert for Democratic tricks. This will be followed in a day or so by another directing these county chairmen to pay particular attention to the way things are run election day, as regards the judges, inspectors, clerks, etc. There will be no counting out this time, for there will be a Republican watcher at every precinct in the State of California."

The organization the Republican party has effected has been one of the greatest factors in the campaign. The allusion by Colonel Bromwell to the 18,000 workers who keep in close touch with headquarters is one good evidence of this, and plenty more is furnished by a visit to the Committee rooms in the Palace Hotel. Here a corps of twenty-three men is kept busy all day and nearly all night, handling correspondence, attending to circulars and newspapers, routing the speakers, keeping a tab on the canvassers and in fact disposing of a multiplicity of detail that only those who have participated in a campaign can realize crops up.

In Colonel Bromwell's department alone, two stenographers are kept busy writing out the 300 letters the Colonel dictates each day on an average. Every thing is handled on a purely business basis, little gossiping, much hard work and a systematic manner of doing things that shows that the right hand is at the wheel. Colonel Bromwell has done splendid service for the Republican cause this campaign, the department under his control being the one that is kept closely in touch with the actual working forces.

To Major Frank McLaughlin too all honor is due. The amount of energy he has thrown into the campaign is surprising and around headquarters it is acknowledged that he does what it would take five ordinary men to accomplish. Nature, however, has been rebelling of late at the undue strain and from Friday of last week to Thursday of this week, the Major was confined to his bed with what for a time threatened to be pneumonia. He is out and about now again though with all his old-time vim and vigor and he is making things hum at headquarters as the work closes in. There is probably no man in the Republican party more sanguine over the outcome than the Major, for he expects to see Gage not only carry the State by over 20,000, but also to obtain a majority in San Francisco.

Gage will remain in San Francisco until Sunday night or Monday morning so as to be on hand in case of any attempt on the part of the Democrats to spring an eleventh hour surprise.

He has borne up wonderfully well under the physical and mental strain to which he has been subjected for the past five weeks, his illness of last Saturday having practically entirely passed away. This he attributes to the presence of his wife who came up from Los Angeles as soon as she heard of his sickness and has kept close watch on him since to see that he does not overtax his strength. When Webster Davis was at headquarters the other day he said that no married man should undertake an arduous campaign unless he has his wife with him because she knows how to handle him if he breaks down and furthermore knows better than any one when it is time for him to take a let-up in his labors and have a rest.

* * *

One of the many factors that the Republican leaders are relying on for the successful outcome of their labors is the support that has been voluntarily tendered them by the Gold Democrats. Over in Alameda county, for instance, such well known Democrats as John Garber, Grayson and West Martin are openly for them and the same is true throughout the entire State. It can, however, be said that all of the same influences that were exerted against Bryan two years ago are not being leveled at Maguire. This is particularly noticeable in the stand taken by some of the corporations who though for Gage are not aggressively so to the extent they were for McKinley a couple of years ago.

However, the Republicans think that the single tax campaign they have carried on will prove more effective than anything that was launched during the Bryan fight, for, in the case of the "boy orator" they could not make many inroads in the agricultural districts whereas, with Maguire and single tax that is where all the mischief has been done for the Democrats this time. In order to give the situation a more thorough test than can be obtained merely by attendances at public meetings, they have, during the past couple of weeks had canvassers go through the agricultural districts from farm to farm. It is the reports of these personal canvassers that has made the leaders at headquarters feel so confident, for in almost every instance the visits are reported as furnishing convincing proofs that Gage will be supported by the land owners.

* * *

Over at the Democratic headquarters in the California Hotel the air of jubilation that pervades the Republican rooms at the Palace is missing. They are still confident though, for the reports they are receiving from their committeemen and workers throughout the State figure out Maguire a winner by from 3,000 to 10,000 majority. What is puzzling them just now is, how far this Father Yorke matter is going to take affect, for some of them are inclined to think that it will upset all the calculations that have been previously made.

As regards giving out an estimate by counties of how they expect Maguire to run, Judge Lawlor will not do so now, for he takes the stand that all such estimates must be more or less guess work no matter where they come from and hence cannot be relied on. The silent vote is the one the judge is interested in—the one cast by the great masses of people who let the wrangling contestants fight it out and quietly sit in judgment without an expression of opinion one way or the other as to how they regard the situation. This is the vote that always swings an election and as there is no telling how it will go, it is no use figuring on it.

It is frankly admitted at Democratic headquarters, though, that at no time have those in charge of the campaign anticipated the extravagant figures as regards Maguire's majority in San Francisco that some members of the party have claimed. If they can get 5,000 majority for him in the metropolis they will be well satisfied and think that it will be more than enough to turn the tide that may be in Gage's favor in other parts of the State.

Where the Democratic campaigners will lose or win the battle seems to lie in Southern California, for their estimates there are sadly at variance with those of the Republicans. They will not concede that Gage will cross Tehachapi with more than 4,000 votes, whereas the Republicans insist that he will have at least 9,000 to his credit when he reaches the pass. In San Diego, for instance, where the Republicans claim 1,000 majority, the Democrats will not allow one, basing their attitude on the way it went for Bryan a couple of years ago. In Los Angeles county, too, they will not give Gage more than 1,500 majority, as against 3,500 claimed by the Republicans, and they also cut down by several hundreds the majorities the Republicans say they will have in Orange and San Bernardino counties. Their figures also widely differ in all of the San Joaquin belt, the Democrats estimating that Maguire will about stand off Gage in every part of the State outside of San Francisco, leaving him the majority in the metropolis to win by.

The Democrats will not lose anything for want of faithful work on the part of those in charge of the campaign, for both Seth Mann, the chairman of the State Central Committee, and Judge Lawlor, chairman of the Fusion Committee, are on the go night and day. One huge room is devoted entirely to the mailing department, and in it a dozen employees are kept busy from early to late, sending out circulars and a wide variety of campaign literature. Maguire is around whenever he has an opportunity, for he is keeping in personal touch with as many details of his campaign as possible. The hours are anxious ones for him, as it is a question of whether or not, in striving for a greater stake, he has lost the minor prize. There is no question in the world that had he chosen to run for Congress again he would have been overwhelmingly elected; in fact, it looks as if he could have stayed in Congress as the representative of the Fourth District as long as he liked. By withdrawing his standard from there, though, it places him in a dubious position in the future, especially if Barry should win, because in that event Barry would doubtless be a candidate for re-election two years from now, and Maguire could not very well take the field against him. If, however, Kahn should win and Maguire lose, two years from now Maguire would be regarded as the logical candidate for his old district, on the theory of his being the only Democrat able to hold it against the Republicans.

The outlook as regards the State ticket outside of the head of it is Republican, even the Democrats being willing to concede Republican majorities nearly all along the line. They, however, feel confident that they will be able to wrest away one of the places on the Supreme Bench, for they think Judge Conley's backing by the Native Sons and young men generally makes him a victor. For a time they thought they would be able to beat Curry for Secretary of State and elect Thompson, but that idea does not possess them very strongly now. Had Thompson put up a hurricane fight and had come to San Francisco and crusaded with Curry on his native heath, they think he would have won, but the Santa Rosan has been one of the least aggressive men on the ticket, and has not done one-hundredth part of the work Curry has been accomplishing.

That Jake Neff will run ahead of his ticket for Lieutenant Governor is regarded as certain, and one of the biggest votes recorded will undoubtedly be for Tirey Ford for Attorney General. Senator Ford seems to have backing in every part of the State. The miners are for him to a man for the splendid fights he has made for them in the past at Sacramento and Washington, and the stumping tour he has made through the State has added thousands to his circle of friends. The Democrats are about willing to concede his election.

As regards the Congressional districts, the only one that appears to be in any doubt is the Fourth, where Kahn and Barry are fighting it out to a finish, with each side claiming victory. The others, with reasonable certainty, seem to be going Republican, for in the Southern part of the State, where Castle and Barlow were successful two years ago, the dethroning of fusion has knocked them from their feet. In the Second District, De Vries, on account of his personal popularity and his good Congressional record, is making a stand against Ryan, but every indication points to a pronounced Republican success.

In the Board of Equalization fight, Beamer looks like a winner in the Third. The rest will go Republican, though John P. Dunn might possibly neat out Edwards in the First.

The Railroad Commissionerships seem to be all safe for the Republicans with the exception of the San Francisco district, where Hinton is pitted against Laumeister. With an average Republican candidate to contend against, Hinton would probably be successful, but in the case of Laumeister it is a different proposition, for the ex-Sheriff has a strong following, including practically the solid German vote.

The Legislature will be Republican almost beyond question. Here and there the fusion candidates will be successful, but on the whole, it is regarded as a sure thing that the majorities will be in favor of the Republicans.

* * *

The local campaign here is in a highly interesting condition. That Phelan has lost a great deal of ground during the past couple of weeks nobody can deny, but his supporters think that he has still more than enough votes left to secure victory. The Irish Catholic vote is an enormous factor in metropolitan politics, being estimated at from 8,000 to 10,000, and if this, or the greater part of it, is now to be recorded against Phelan, the gains he will make in other directions in that regard will be more than set off.

Phelan himself is anxious, but confident, for he thinks that the solid business elements of the city will stand by him as regards Patton. To this, the Patton people reply that a canvass of the business district of the town shows that the majority of that element is for their man, and that being the case, they do not see how Phelan can figure victory, especially as the "push" vote is almost entirely massed against him. The "push" vote alone cannot, of course, carry an election, but if a fair percentage of the respectable element is arrayed on the same side, the combination is superlative.

As in the case of the Gage-Maguire conflict, it is the silent vote that will turn the tide of the Mayoralty contest. If the thousands of people who take no other part in politics than to read the papers and occasionally attend a meeting, drift more to one side than the other, that is the man who will prove victorious. The only way of gauging how this element will vote is by means of personal interviews, and from what can be gleaned by such a method the advantage seems to be slightly in favor of Patton.

The rest of the ticket is in a dubious condition, and to a great extent depends upon the outcome of the fight regarding the head of it. If Phelan falls, it is pretty nearly certain that down will also tumble most of the Phelanite Democratic and Non-Partisan nominees. On the other hand, if Phelan is elected, most of his men will probably reach dry land with him.

The result of the Judiciary fight seems about evident now, and unless indications fail, the victors will be Seawell, Murasky, Borden and Troutt. Some circulars reflecting very damagingly on Judge Wallace have gone the rounds during the week, and although they have only been cooked up for the occasion, they have unquestionably done him some harm. One of the principal whisperings that is setting Wallace back is that he is worth a million dollars, and hence does not need a position on the bench from the standpoint of income. This has a great effect with those people who believe in giving a poor man a chance. The same kind of talk has been indulged in regarding Henry Martin, the Republican candidate for Sheriff, who has met it by placing a mortgage on his property. As the rate of interest he is to pay is given in the papers as ten per cent, the incredulous are inclined to wink the other eye.

* * *

Emmet Seawell, candidate for Congress on the Democratic ticket in the First district, was in town during the week. He says Humboldt county is going Democratic this year. The Republicans are claiming it by 500.

The letter carriers are bearing the brunt of the campaign just now. Almost every mail brings half a dozen missives containing candidates' cards and requests for votes.

The San Francisco creditors, whose fate depends upon the passage of Constitutional Amendment Number One, feel like losers. The attack on the proposition by both the Chronicle and Examiner seems to settle it.

Jim Booth of the editorial staff of the Report is regarded as a sure winner for the Assembly in the Forty-third. He has been putting up a spirited fight, and has had all the newspaper men at his back.

Section 18. No county, city, town, township, board of education or school district shall incur any indebtedness or liability in any manner or for any purpose exceeding in any year the income and revenue provided for it for such year, without the assent of two-thirds of the qualified electors thereof, voting at an election to be held for that purpose, nor unless before, or at the time of incurring such indebtedness, provision shall be made for the collection of an annual tax sufficient to pay the interest on such indebtedness as it falls due, and also provision to constitute a sinking fund for the payment of the principal thereof on or before maturity, which shall not exceed forty years from the time of contracting the same; provided, however, that the city and county of San Francisco may at any time pay the unpaid claims with interest thereon for materials furnished to and work done for said city and county during the forty-third and forty-fourth fiscal years, out of the income and revenue of any succeeding year or years; provided, that any and all claims for making, repairing, altering, or for any work done upon or for any material furnished for any street, lane, alley, court, place or sidewalk, or for the construction of any sewer or sewers in said city or county are hereby excepted from the provisions of this section; and in determining any claim permitted to be paid by this section, no statute of limitations shall apply in any manner; and provided further, that the city of Vallejo, in Solano county, may pay its existing indebtedness incurred in the construction of its water-works, whenever two-thirds of the electors thereof voting at an election held for that purpose, shall so decide. AMENDMENT NUMBER TWO.

(Being Senate Constitutional Amendment No. 10.)

Section 7½. The inhabitants of any county may frame a county government act for their own government, relating to the matters hereinafter specified, and consistent with, and subject to, the Constitution and laws of this State, by causing a board of fifteen freeholders, who have been, for at least five years, qualified electors of such county, to be elected by the qualified electors of such county, at any general or special election, whose duty it shall be, within ninety days after such election, to prepare and propose a county government act for such county, which shall be signed in duplicate by the members of such board, or a majority of them, and returned, one copy thereof to the Board of Supervisors or other legislative body of such county, and the other copy to be sent to the Recorder of deeds of the county. Such proposed county government act shall then be published in two papers of general circulation in such county, or if there be not two such papers, then in one only, for at least twenty days, and within not less than thirty days after such publication it shall be submitted to the qualified electors of such county, at a general or special election, and if a majority of such qualified electors voting thereon shall ratify the same, it shall thereafter be submitted to the Legislature for its rejection or approval, as a whole, without power of alteration or amendment, and if approved by a majority of the members elected to each house it shall be the county government act of such county, and shall in such case become the organic law thereof and supersede any existing county government act, and all amendments thereof, and all special laws inconsistent with such county government act.

A copy of such county government act, certified by the President of the Board of Supervisors or other legislative body of such county, and authenticated by the seal of such county, setting forth the submission of such county government act to the electors and its ratification by them, shall be made in duplicate and deposited, one in the office of the Secretary of State, the other, after being recorded in the office of the Recorder of deeds in the county, among the archives of the county.

All courts shall take judicial notice thereof. The county government act so ratified may be amended, at intervals of not less than two years, by proposals therefor, submitted by the legislative authority of the county, to the qualified electors thereof, at a general or special election held at least forty days after the publication of such proposals for twenty days in a newspaper of general circulation in such county, and ratified by at least three-fifths of the qualified electors voting thereon, and approved by the Legislature as herein provided for the approval of the county government act. In submitting any such county government act, any alternative article or proposition may be presented for the choice of the voters, and may be voted on separately without prejudice to others.

It shall be competent in all county government acts framed under the authority given by this section, to provide for the manner in which, the times at which, and the terms for which the several township and county officers, other than Judges of the Superior Court, shall be elected and appointed; for their compensation; for the number of such officers, for the consolidation or segregation of offices, for the number of deputies that each officer shall have, and for the compensation payable to each of such deputies, for the manner in which, the times in which and the terms for which the members of all boards of election shall be elected or appointed; and for the constitution, regulation, compensation and government of such boards, and of their clerks and attaches; also, to prescribe the manner and method by which all elections by the people shall be conducted; and may in addition determine the tests and conditions upon which electors, political parties and organizations may participate in any primary election.

Whenever any county has, in the manner and method herein pointed out, adopted any county government act, and the same shall have been approved by the Legislature as aforesaid, the directions of sections four and five of this article providing for the uniformity of a system of county governments throughout the State, and likewise providing for the election and appointment of officers, and the regulation of their compensation, shall not apply. Said county government act shall, as to any of the matters hereinabove provided for and declared by such county government act, not be subject to any law or amendment enacted by the Legislature, except by amendment first submitted to the electors and ratified in the manner hereinabove set forth.

PART 2. # OAKLAND TRIBUNE. PAGES

VOL. XXXXV OAKLAND, CALIFORNIA, SATURDAY EVENING, NOVEMBER 5, 1898. NO. 152

A Great Play at the Macdonough on Monday.

Reproduction of Grundy's Masterpiece "Sowing the Wind."

LOTTA'S PIECE AT THE DEWEY.

Strong Attractions Outlined at the Various San Francisco Theaters.

The present theatrical season will bring to this city few if any finer attractions than the production of "Sowing the Wind," which will be given by an excellent company at the Macdonough next Monday night, November 7.

This play, which promises to take rank as the great effort of Sydney Grundy's life, is now in its third season in this country. In New York, Chicago and other large cities, it was the theatrical sensation of the years 1893-4, and its popularity is still as great as ever. It selects from the two sexes an able champion and representative of each, and puts them against each other In one of the fiercest and most relentless intellectual conflicts ever depicted on the stage.

The woman has been thrust into the world without the boon of lawful parentage, and through the irony of fate the man responsible for her situation is now the guardian of her lover, standing between her and the only happiness of which she has ever dreamed, objecting to her because for the very conditions that have resulted from his own youthful perversity, though his relationship to her is not made known to him until the denouement of the play. The woman, stung and maddened by the terrible injustice that rests upon her, and yet unconscious that she is speaking to the author of her first great wrong, bursts upon him in a moment of wild emotion, with a most fearful arraignment to the sterner sex for its pitiless treatment of womanhood. The man, wounded by the truthfulness of the charge, and writhing in the secret consciousness of his own guilt, rallies from the staggering effects of the assaults and rushes to a desperate defense. The contest is on. The battle cry is "sex against sex." Man and woman were never more splendidly matched against each other, and no encounter of the kind was ever more skillfully conducted. The final scene between these two principal characters is one remembered through a life time. The complications of the plot are few, and the interests continually center in the issue between the old man "Erabazon," and "Rosamond."

The following attractions are booked to appear at the Macdonough Theater this season: "Northern Lights," "Gay Coney Island," the great Keller, Cleveland's Minstrels, Chas. Dickson in "Mistakes Will Happen," "Secret Service" Company, "Gayest Manhattan," "Boy Wanted" Company, "Hogan's Alley," "Finnigan's Ball," "The Dazzler" Company, Dan Sully and Company, "Parlor Match," "Humanity," Primrose and Dockstader's Minstrels, 'Man From Mexico" Company, "Fudd'n Head Wilson," "Girl I Left Behind Me," Chas. Wayne in "A Sure Cure," Hoyt's "A Contented Woman," "A Hired Girl" Company, Godfrey's Military Band in concerts, Frank Daniels and Company, James-Kidder-Ward Company, Black Patti Troubadours, 'Sign of the Cross" Company, Bostonians Opera Company, Roland Reed and Company, Weber and Field's Vaudeville Company, The Rays Company, Sousa's Band, and many others.

THE DEWEY.

"Lost in New York" which has drawn large audiences to the Dewey Opera House this week receives its final productions this Saturday and to-morrow (Sunday) nights.

Monday will introduce a change in the programme, when Lotta's great comedy success "Pawn Ticket 210" will receive its initial Coast production.

The first and third acts, which represent the interior and exterior of a typical New York pawn shop, will be made a great feature.

It is in this shop the pawn broker meets with a tragic death, and many funny dialogues and comedy situations take place.

Some new people have been engaged to strengthen the cast, in which everybody represents a character. W. J. Ellcford appears as "Uncle Harris," a pawn broker, and Miss Jessie Norton as "Mag," a pledge known as "Pawn 210," in which she will introduce some late songs.

The piece will afford every one an opportunity to laugh, as the play is comedy from the rise to the final fall of the curtain.

As the coming week closes the stock season for a few weeks to make room for the traveling combinations which are booked, every effort will be used to eclipse every previous undertaking, and a finished, pleasing performance can be relied upon.

Tuesday night, the election returns will be read from the stage.

THE ALCAZAR.

Nat C. Goodwin's great comedy success "Ambition" has been running along very smoothly this week at the Alcazar. The piece deals mostly in politics and the business has been quite large. Ernest Hastings and Gretchen Lyons do very capable work. Howard Scott, Frank Donthorne, Juliet Crosby, and other members of the company do well. Next week, "Dr. Bill," a French farce of unusual merit, will be produced.

THE TIVOLI.

"The Grand Dutchess" is receiving a first-class production at the Tivoli Opera House this week. The cast includes Anna Litcher, Edwin Stevens, Elvia Crox, and is the strongest that ever appeared in this piece in San Francisco. The scenery and costumes are beautiful. On Wednesday evening, the California Associated Cycling Clubs had a benefit and the house was packed. "Suzette" will be the next opera to be produced.

THE ORPHEUM.

The Orpheum is presenting the best vaudeville programme ever given on the Pacific Coast this week, and is crowding the theater every night. Edwin Milton Royle and company present a new sketch, which takes well, the Rossow midgets are as amusing as ever. Carl Hertz is a good magician, John C. Rice and Sally Cohn present "Our Honeymoon." Raymon Moore, author of "Sweet Marie," the newsboys' Quintette, Pearl Andrews, and Sells and Young complete the bill. Pauline Hall, Beatrice Moreland, and others appear next week.

THE COMEDY.

"The Crust of Society" received its first production by the Henderson Company at the Comedy last Thursday evening and was well received. The play is the work of Alexander Dames, and treats of the social life of the present day. Edward M. Bell and Frankie Raymond were well received, as were the other members of the company. Lincoln J. Carter's "The Heart of Chicago," a melodrama of the sensational order, will be the attraction next week. The great Chicago fire and the approach of a train in full view of the audience are among the principal scenic features.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE.

The new American drama, "The Indian" is the piece at Morosco's this week. The play has suited the patrons of the theater, judging by the large audience. The scenic effects, especially the ball-room, the stockade, and the Indian camps, have been much admired. James Brophy in the title role does justice to the part, and Lorena Atwood as "Gladys Sterling" is very strong. Harry Napier, Max Von Mitzel, Landers Stevens, Norman Beardsley and Julia Blanc receive their share of praise. Taken together, this is the best production seen at this theater in many months.

Next week "The Stranglers of Paris" will be produced.

THEATRICAL NOTES.

Edward E. Rose has joined the faculty of the American Academy of the Dramatic Arts, as an instructor in the stage department.

John J. Pierson, who was seen here last season, has been compelled to retire from the stage, as he is suffering from eye trouble.

Modjeska has done an immense business in Chicago, and the critics there have praised her work very highly.

Madame Emma Calve has been obliged to postpone her departure from England to this country on account of ill-health.

May Irwin will commence an engagement next week at the Bijou, New York, in her new play, "Kate Kip."

The sword used by Julia Arthur in "A Lady of Quality" is said to be a weapon of the time of George IV, bearing a crown and the inscription "Rex IV" on the hilt.

Dorothy Usher, who was here last season with Nat Goodwin, has been highly praised by Eastern critics for her clever work in Broadhurst's latest success, "Why Smith Left Home."

THE CRITIC.

MAGNIFICENT SWORD GIVEN TO THE SIRDAR

London Clubdom Is Shivering Over the Revelations of Rascality Made by Ernest Hooley.

Inexorable British Justice Is Proof Against All Attempts to Secure the Release of Mrs. Maybrick, the Poisoner.

(Copyright 1898 by Associated Press.)

LONDON, Nov. 5.—Apart from politics, the attention of London this week has been mainly directed to the ceremonies in honor of General Kitchener yesterday, and to the resumption of the exposures of Mr. Ernest Terah Hooley, the bankrupt company promoter.

The General was the guest of Queen Victoria at Balmoral during the early part of the week, and he presented her majesty with many interesting relics of the battle of Omdurman. On Thursday the General went through the quaint ceremony of being admitted to the freedom of the "fish mongers'" company, and it was as a citizen and fish monger that he received the freedom of the city of London on Friday.

The sword of honor presented to General Kitchener at the Guild Hall yesterday is a magnificent specimen of the jewelers' art. The hilt is of solid gold, surmounted by a figure of the British lion, and it bears the figures of Britannia and Justice and the monogram of the General in diamonds, rubies and sapphires, and the British and Egyptian flags enameled in their proper colors. The scabbard is finely ornamented and inscribed with the names of the Sirdar's victories. The blade is of the finest steel, Damascened near the hilt with gold.

HOOLEY'S BOMBSHELLS.

Mr. Hooley's statements during Wednesday's examination brought forth a crop of disclaimers from titled and other gentlemen whose participation in his profits, according to Hooleys evidence, was in no wise creditable. Some of these rejoinders are palpably weak. Mr. Hooley's revelation regarding the Carlton Club and the part played by the Marquis of Abergavenny and Sir William Marriott has caused qualms among the clubmen. His statements give the key to the meaning of a paragraph in Henry Labouchere's Truth setting forth that a former millionaire was about to expose the committee of a great West End club, which, having accepted money to secure his election to membership, had his name erased from the books without returning the money when he was adjudicated a bankrupt.

The temperance party won a moral victory this week in attacking the sale of intoxicants within the House of Parliament, which is in the anomalous position of breaking the laws made by its members. The action was an appeal from the decision of a magistrate who held that the licensing act did not apply to the Houses of Parliament, and the Appeal Court practically admitted that the magistrate's decision was wrong in view of the present state of the licensing law. But the court dismissed the appeal on a technical point. The Lord Chief Justice, Baron Russell, of Killowen, however, recommends Parliament to pass a bill legalizing its position.

GREAT STRIKE IMPENDING.

The great South Wales collier strike was no sooner over than another is threatened, owing to the miners, in defiance of their agreement with the employers, deciding by a big majority to retain every Monday as a holiday. Trouble is expected next Monday, when the absentees will be prosecuted.

The London County Council this week decided by an overwhelming majority in favor of the compulsory purchase of all the London water companies, involving many millions of pounds sterling. Such a bill, however, will meet with desperate opposition in Parliament, where the vested interests are exceptionally strong.

The Baroness Bouques has arrived here from France and has paid her semi-annual visit to all the authorities. She was permitted to visit her daughter, Mrs. Maybrick, who is undergoing imprisonment for life after having been convicted of poisoning her husband in Allesbury prison, on Wednesday. She reports the prisoner in a lamentable condition, worn to the bone and still unable to work. She is confined in the infirmary and her spirit is utterly broken. Friends of Mrs. Maybrick here are convinced that some influence which does not appear on the surface is alone responsible for the opposition of the Home Office to the release of Mrs. Maybrick. It is known that Colonel John Hay, just before leaving the United States Embassy here to assume the duties of Secretary of State at Washington, made another unsuccessful effort to obtain her release, and that the Lord Chief Justice also lately took steps in the same direction.

AN ADVENTURER'S CLEAN-UP.

Claude Vautin, a metallurgist and inventor known on the Pacific coast, where he has lectured on mining subjects, has left London, after a financial coup by which he secured £20,000 ($100,000) in Bank of England notes and American railroad securities. The police think he may have gone to America. Vautin established luxurious offices on the strength of expectations from his invention of an improved process for extracting gold. He also advertised himself as a consulting metallurgist. His invention failing to bring in the expected returns, and his creditors becoming importunate, Vautin ordered various brokers to buy large blocks of securities for which he gave notes. When the brokers discovered that the notes were worthless Vautin had disappeared with his plunder.

The wedding of the Earl of Stafford to Mrs. Colgate will probably occur in America.

The theatrical season is getting under way. Revivals of "The Musketeers" have reached the importance of a fad. Beerbohm Tree's production of "The Musketeers," Sydney Grundy's dramatization of Alex Dumas' novel, "The Three Musketeers," given at Her Majesty's Theater on Thursday night, was the most notable incident of the week.

NEWS AND NOTES OF SINGLE TAX.

Editor, Edgar Pomeroy.

Cast off your trammels from Commerce and Trade;
Give us the land the Creator has made;
Place on land values the burden and tax
Land-grabbing vampires, clear Off our backs.

A. D. CRIDGE.

Put a tariff on certain products and trade is temporarily disarranged. Take off, or reduce the tariff and again business has to re-adapt itself.

Put a tax on land values and the tax will not affect one business more than another; it will not interfere in the production of any particular product, it will jar no one except the land-lord, and he is not a business man but a parasite.

There seems to be jubilation in some quarters because the United States Supreme Court has affirmed the right of States to tax foreign corporations doing business within their limits.

Of course, if the corporation is not doing business in the State it is not there to be taxed. If it is, the tax is simply added on to its charges and the patriotic citizen pays the tax. All taxes, except the single tax, work that way. As for the home corporations, they will naturally take advantage of the tax and also add it to their charges, although they do not have to pay it out again. Personally, we would not feel it any compensation to be told that the man who robbed us was a countryman. Our money would be gone just the same.

The Socialists claim that machinery is the great robber of labor. To own the machinery, they say, is to own the producer and the product. Our Socialist friends overlook the fact that a machine is merely a product of land and labor; that it must be set up and used on land; that the food of the machine and the man who operates it must come from land, by the aid of labor; that land being an absolute necessity to the man and the machine, the man who owns the land has the power of life and extinction over both; in proof of which we call our Socialist friends' attention to the fact that the machine owner often "busts." How much would Pullman have made had he not owned the land he worked on?

The Single Tax Society of Alameda county mailed 10,000 copies of a special Single Tax edition of the Record-Economist to as many Alameda county farmers. John E. Bennett, Louis Post and P. B. Preble had special articles on the California farmers and Single Tax therein.

Arthur McEwen, the most popular of all Single Tax editors, whose editorials did so much to add power to the National Single Taxer, is home again and is writing stirring editorials for the Examiner.

BAD FOOD AND BAD TAXATION.

When a sensible physician is called to advise upon a case of chronic indigestion, his first inquiry is concerning the food upon which the patient has lived. Bad food may not be the only cause, but if the patient's food is clearly bad, the physician reforms that before he attempts to reform anything else. When we find society in an unhealthy state, wealth unequally and unjustly distributed, idle people rich, industrious people poor, gambling encouraged, industry and commerce discouraged, desperate and degrading poverty side by side with excessive and wasted wealth, it is not a mere delusion, as some would have us believe, which leads us to say that these are the results of bad government. But when we seek for the causes of bad government, why should we not do as we would in the case of the human body, and ask upon what food this government has lived? Bad taxation is as certain to produce bad government and bad social conditions as is bad food to produce indigestion and decay in the human body. And as no medicine, in the long run, can supply the place of good food, so no other social reforms can ever bring social health so long as unjust and unscientific forms of taxation are continued.

THOMAS G. SHERMAN.

NEED FOR AGITATORS.

Rev. Chas. D. Williams, dean of Trinity Cathedral, spoke at the Cedar Avenue Disciple Church on "Henry George, the Man and the Reformer." Dean Williams is a recent convert to the Single Tax doctrine, and as one of the leading clergymen of Cleveland his words carry considerable weight.

Dean Williams paid a high tribute to Henry George as a man well calculated by his manner of life, his experience and his reading to judge of the needs and character of his fellow men, and so far as his work went alluded to him as a prophet. He said that he was in his death, also, truly a martyr. He spoke of the man's great faith in his mission and referred to him as an optimist and a radical, in both of which capacities he approved him. He declared that the death of Henry George had already given an impetus to the work he had begun by making it impersonal. If he were a man of one idea, the dean said, that idea was the highest conceivable, the brotherhood of man. In conclusion the dean said:

"Men may call the disciples of this man and the advocates of this cause cranks and disturbers of the social order, but I would remind them that cranks are sometimes useful articles. They are instruments for producing revolutions, and sometimes revolutions need to be produced. Sometimes the social order needs to be disturbed, when it is fundamentally and essentially a disorder. I also remind these critics that even the apostles of Jesus Christ were called cranks and disturbers of the peace. 'Behold these men who have turned the world upside down are come hither also,' cried the mob at Thessalonica, and they were right. That was just what the apostles were there for. They had found the world upside down, and they had determined not to rest till they had turned it right side up. We are still at it in this nineteenth century of grace, and we shall keep at it un il the kingdom of God be come, and His will be done on earth as it is in heaven."

He Paid the Man.

He bought two tickets for Wayne and with her boarded the Michigan Central mail train yesterday afternoon. He wore a loud brown checked suit. His tie was red and green and in its center sparkled a paste diamond that must have weighed an ounce. She was dressed in green, and a yellow rose bobbed up and down a-top of her hat. The conductor took up the two tickets for Wayne, and when he again entered the coach after the train had pulled out from the station, he was surprised to see the pair still in the seat they had taken at Detroit.

The conductor stopped in the aisle beside them and said: "Fare."

The chap looked up: "Ah paid de fahs once," he said.

"Your tickets were to Wayne," was the only response of the man in blue.

'We' gwine t' Ypsilanti," chirped in the woman.

"Have to collect two more fares," repeated the conductor.

"Ah paid de fahs once, I tol' yo," said the man again.

"Well, you'll have to pay the rest," snapped the official, "or I'll stop the train and put you off. Are you going to pay?" The conductor's right hand rose toward the bell rope.

The chap in the loud clothes turned to the woman in green. "Will I pay de man?" he asked.

She drew herself up and replied with a sneer of dignity: "Of co'se pay de man. He wouldn't a-ast yo' ef he didn't want de money."—Detroit Free Press.

Why the Sky Appears Blue.

Did it ever strike you to inquire why the cloudless depths of sky above us are so delicately blue? It isn't that the gas we call air is in itself blue. So far as we know, it is quite transparent and absolutely colorless. No; the blue comes from reflected light.

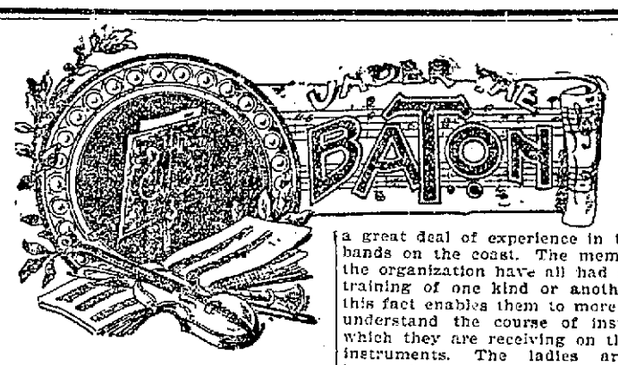

Air is never pure; you couldn't live in it if it were. Countless millions of tiny particles, chiefly of water, are always suspended in it, and these arrest the free passage of light. Each particle has a double reflection—one internal, the other external—and so the reflected rays suffer the usual result of what is called "interference" and show color.

You will notice that the sky appears much bluer if you look straight up than if you look across toward the horizon. The reason is that, in the first instance, you are naturally looking through a much thinner layer of air than in the second.

If there were no air, and consequently no watery vapor, and nothing to interfere with the free passage of light, even at midday, the sky above would look perfectly black, and all the stars plainer than they do now at midnight.—Boston Herald.

She Was Grateful.

"A man with brains can afford to do odd things and wear poor clothes," says the Kansas City Journal. "General Archie Williams was on a train going up Pike's Peak one day last summer. At the half way house he got off and purchased a big basket of violets at an expense of $10. Returning to the train he presented each lady with a beautiful bouquet, though all of the ladies were strangers. By and by the husband of one of the ladies came back from the smoking car, and she said to him: 'I think this is the nicest railroad I ever rode on. That brakeman over there gave every one of us a lovely bouquet.'"

Musical Events Lacked in Number This Week.

Mrs. Beatrice Priest-Fine Receives Honors in New York.

ALFRED WILKIE GOES EAST.

Items of Interest to Musicians in the Neighboring Towns.

The week has not been very lively in musical society and it is not expected that there will be much to enliven the world of sweet sounds the coming week.

Next Wednesday evening a pleasant time is promised a number of people through the kindness of Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Campbell, at whose residence a recital is to be given by the pupils of William Wallace. Many of these have formed an orchestra, and it is said play remarkably well.

* * *

Mrs. Beatrice Priest-Fine has reached New York and has attained to distinction among the musicians of the metropolis. The latest advices here are to the effect that she has been elected a member of the New York Manuscript Society, an honor which is greatly appreciated by the lady's friends in this section.

* * *

It is almost a certain fact that Oakland is to lose Alfred Wilkie, the well known tenor, who has sung so long in this vicinity and who is known in every musical circle along the coast. Toward the close of the year he will go to Detroit, Mich., where his father, who is a well known inventor, resides. Mr. Wilkie's father is now engaged in patenting an improved car wheel, which it is said has many advantages over the wheels which he has heretofore designed, and which are now in use on many of the leading trunk lines in the country. It is understood that Mr. Wilkie will be tendered a complimentary benefit before his departure for the East.

There may be life and vigor in music which is at the same time artistic. This is true of the band and orchestral work of Louis Homeier's aggregation of musicians at the race course. Of course, classic pieces are not looked for at such a place. The music is intended to fill in the hiatus between the speed contests and to inspire those whose favorite won and console those whose horse may have failed to reach the wire in time. In both respects Mr. Homeier's men succeed admirably. The best operatic overtures and the latest selections of popular works are produced with a dash and skill which have made the orchestra one of the features of the Jockey Club Park.

The musical people of Alameda are highly encouraged over the success which is attending the rehearsals of Sullivan's "Pirates of Penzance," which will be produced over there soon. There are already about sixty vocalists enrolled, and all of them are said to be in good voice and to be highly elated over the prospect of appearing in the piece in public. Alameda has for a number of years past been devoted to the production of light operas, and in all of them she has been signally fortunate, both as regards financial and artistic success. There seems to be no doubt that the "Pirates" will score a repetition of the success of the past.

The first concert of the Berkeley Choral Orchestral Society will be given on Tuesday evening, the 15th instant. Berkeley enjoys the distinction of having one of the largest musical organizations on the coast, and a fine programme is in store for its patrons.

* * *

The Chancel and Choir Chapters of St. John's Church gave a musical and literary evening at the home of Dr. J. C. S. Akerly, 1247 Adeline street, last evening. There was a large attendance, and while the numbers rendered were mainly of a devotional character, at the same time they were given in an artistic manner. There was no admission fee charged, but voluntary contributions made up a fair sum with which to purchase for the choir a musical library and a set of hymnals.

Miss Elizabeth Westgate of Alameda, organist of the Unitarian Church of that place, is arranging a new series of vesper services, the first presentation of which will take place at the services tomorrow, when Mrs. Lena Carroll-Nicholson will sing.

"Sweet Little Katie Magee" is the title of a new and catchy song which has been composed by F. I. Phelps of this city, and which has been published by the Model Music Store of San Francisco. The piece is bound to satisfy popular taste, and a fine production of it will be given at the forthcoming Oakland Industrial Exposition.

Livermore has a novelty in a brass band composed exclusively of women. It was organized about six weeks ago. Since then the members have purchased instruments and secured an instructor in W. C. Beach, who has had a great deal of experience in training bands on the coast. The members of the organization have all had musical training of one kind or another, and this fact enables them to more readily understand the course of instruction which they are receiving on the wind instruments. The ladies are well known in town, and their progress as full-fledged musicians is watched with a great deal of interest by all their acquaintances. The band will not play in public save on special occasions, when, perhaps, the cause of charity is to be subserved. It proposes, however, to give a concert before long, and the event is looked forward to with the greatest eagerness by the people of that town. The members of the organization and the instruments they play are as follows: Misses Agnes Dolan, cornet; Maud Callaghan, cornet; Lillian Taylor, cornet; Alma Gorner, cornet; Lena Philips, alto; Sadie Callaghan, alto; Grace Sanderson, alto; Jennie Weymouth, trombone; Katie Dolan, tenor; Dora Bistorious, tenor; Dora Gorner, baritone; Mayme Taylor, bass, and Tillie Seeband, bass.

THE TENOR.

LITERARY NOTES.

"The War as a Suggestion of Manifest Destiny" is the subject of a critical study by Prof. H. H. Powers, which should attract widespread attention. It has just been issued by the American Academy of Political and Social Science. Professor Powers shows the development of the policy of imperialism from the time of Jefferson and the inevitableness of the war. He then sets forth the results which must follow from our appearance as a world power, and why the final struggle for world domination must be between the Anglo-Saxon and Slav races. He also endeavors to forecast the result of this struggle. This book should be carefully studied by every American who wishes a glimpse of the future of America.

The Doubleday & McClure Company has just ready Hamlin Garland's "Life and Character of General Grant," which is really the first personal life of the great commander and which has occupied the author's time for the last three years. It is said that Mr. Garland's quest for his material has carried him over some 35,000 miles, he having visited every place where Grant ever lived, made trips to all the battlefields and talked personally with all the General's intimate friends still living. In view of these extraordinary labors and of the fact that the author has had access to many unpublished letters it is no wonder that the volume, with its wealth of pictorial matter, throws many fresh lights upon the soldier President who was for so long the chief figure in the United States.

In timeliness, variety and positiveness of quality and interest the November number of McClure's must be pronounced a rare magazine. A character sketch of Colonel Theodore Roosevelt presents, in its full picturesqueness, the personality of one of the most independent, original and forceful of living Americans. "The Inner History of Admiral Sampson's Campaign," related mainly in hitherto unpublished official dispatches, gives for the first time the full and true story of the finding and securing of Cervera's fleet. "A True Story of the Fire Patrol," and E. A. FitzGerald's account of his own experiences in leading a party for the first time in human record to the tops of the two highest mountain peaks in the Western Hemisphere, and perhaps the highest ever climbed, exhibit human power and endurance in their strongest, most heroic manifestation.

A large first edition of "Tom Benton's Luck," by Herbert Elliott Hamblen, a new boys' book, has been sold in advance of publication. The English edition is also out of print before the book has appeared. A second edition is now on the press. The book will be published on October 20th. The popularity of the author of "On Many Seas" and "The General Manager's Story" has now stood the wear and tear of three publishing seasons. Most authors have got over their blushes by the time they publish their first book, but if we may accept the veracity of the very amusing interview with this author published in the Criterion lately, there are some to whom this generalization does not apply.

"The Welsh People: their Origin, Language and History" is the title of a book to be published at an early date by the Macmillan Company. The very interesting matter contained in the report of the Royal Commission on Land in Wales and Monmouthshire has been edited with additions, notes and appendices by John Rhys, principal of Jesus College and professor of Celtic in the University of Oxford, and David Brynmor Jones, Q. C., M. P. The book is a very thorough study of the Welsh race, laws, languages and constitutional relation to England. In the appendix are very complete lists of authorities on the subjects dealt with and also an exhaustive bibliography.

Teachers of French and German find selections for sight translation, whether for written exercises or for class-room texts, a very useful aid in instruction. D. C. Heath & Co., publishers, Boston, have brought out "French Selections for Sight Translation," by Miss Bruce; also selections for advanced sight translation, by Mme. Colin; also German selections for sight translation, by Mme. Mondan; and now have in press "German Selections for Advanced Sight Translation," by Miss Rose Chamberlain of Bryn Mawr College. Teachers who have had occasion to use any of these texts will be glad to know of this forthcoming addition to the list.

Frank Worthing is appearing in "Catherine" at the Garrick Theater, New York. Joseph Holland, Ethel Barrymore and May Buckley are also in the cast.

POLITICAL.

TO THE MERCHANT, PRODUCER AND LABORER:

Gentlemen: I am not seeking your votes by proclaiming from the stump and through the columns of newspapers that if you elect me I will cinch corporations.

When I am Assessor of Alameda county I will assess corporation property as fairly and justly as I assess individual property. I will not fix the assessable value of one item of corporation property at an unreasonable and exorbitant rate and leave for three years nor for one year unassessed at any rate whatever, a valuable piece of property held by the same or any corporation.

For three years the county has lost the taxes on the water front, though during these years the City Assessor assessed this property and the taxes on it were paid, as the State and county taxes would have been paid had the property been assessed.

Property created by the aggregation of capital is, under the law, entitled to precisely the same consideration and is subject to precisely the same liability and conditions as property created with the capital of one person.

A million dollars worth of property should be assessed on exactly the same estimate as to market value than a thousand dollars worth of property is assessed.

To assess the product of aggregated capital on an estimate nearer its market value than the property of the individual holder is assessed is to deal unjustly with the company or corporation; to discriminate in favor of the property of aggregated capital, as was done for three consecutive years in the case of the water front, is to both wrong and oppress the individual taxpayer.

The law does not authorize the practice of either of these methods, and the Assessor who resorts to them, no matter what his motive, violates the spirit of the law and betrays the trust reposed in him by the people.

Fighting corporations on the cinch assessment plan is tying millstones to the neck of prosperity, retarding progress, blighting business and taking bread from the mouth of the laboring man.

The Risdon Iron Works abandoned its purpose to establish an extensive plant in Oakland when it learned that Alameda county has an Assessor who "fights corporations." Hundreds, perhaps thousands, of men lost the employment the establishment of this great industry in our midst would have guaranteed them, and our producers and business firms lost heavily in trade and patronage. The Valley Railroad declined to make Oakland its terminus because Alameda county has an Assessor who "fights corporations." Here again our people lost heavily in trade and opportunities for employment.

Corporation property and the product of other aggregations of capital pay taxes on a just and lawful assessment valuation. All such property should be compelled to contribute to the maintenance of government in the same ratio with the property of lesser holders. Neither more nor less.

It is wrong upon the general tax-payer and derogatory to the best interests of the county to place an extravagant estimate upon some values and leave other possessions of as great or greater value entirely off the assessment roll. The evidence is indisputable that for the past three years this most damaging method of assessment has been pursued.

It is my judgment, and I believe it is the judgment of every other taxpayer, whether upon large or small values, that the assessment of all assessable property upon an even and equitable basis will promote new industries, increase the roll of assessable property, furnish steady employment to thousands of laborers and expand the volume of all classes of business to a degree far beyond what the county can hope to attain by clinching wealth aggregations in assessment valuation and discriminating in favor of or against the property of corporations.

Jesse James' Spartan Mother.

The arrest of young Jesse James for implication in the recent train robbery near Kansas City has been a great surprise to those who have watched the boy in his apparently exemplary course. It has recalled to mind the days when his father and uncle were a terror in that vicinity and the disturbing element that kept the authorities on a constant hunt.

One naturally wonders what manner of woman the mother of such desperate characters can be, and in this instance she proves to be a woman of iron. Her devotion to her desperado boys and her unfailing belief in their honor and bravery form a perfect study. Brought up under the influence of such a woman, and with such natural tendencies as heredity may be responsible for, surprise at the arrest of young Jesse is soon dissipated.

The Kansas City Star publishes a story of a visit to the aged woman, which give a better idea of her character than could be gained in any other way. Enough of it is given here to show the strength of her love, the sense of injustice which she has in a marked degree and her willingness to undergo anything for their sakes.

Everyone is familiar with the career of the James boys and the James band from the standpoint of the outside world. The story of the other side, from the viewpoint of the James family, is told here for the first time, and as it came from the lips of their mother.

Jesse James, as all the world knows, was the greatest guerilla and outlaw of the Western border. He invented the modern style of express train and bank robbery; he shot and killed many men in fights fair or foul, and he was at the last shot and killed himself by a traitorous member of his gang for the largest reward ever offered for a bandit.

The body of Jesse James lies buried in a corner of the yard of the home where he was born and where lives today his mother, a remarkable woman of 73 years, but stout of heart and body; bony of frame, strong of muscle, stern of visage and vigorous in temper when she talks in denunciatory words of the men who hounded her "brave boy" to his death. It is always her brave boy when she speaks of Jesse, the bandit. To strangers she talks but little. Visitors are welcome to visit her home and the flower-bespangled grave if they pay the admission fee of twenty-five cents, which she charges to all who enter.

The pilgrims to the James home are many. The register on the center table in the front parlor was signed by 3650 people in the last three years, and to each of them the Spartan-like mother showed her treasured relics, the pictures of her boys, the tiny attic of the log cabin where they lay in hiding many a time when armed posses were scouring the country for them; the port-holes cut through the log walls to be used for defense in case of a siege; the jagged piece of a bomb shell thrown into her home by detectives one dark winter night; the stump of her right arm that was torn off by the explosion, and the picture of her baby boy who was pierced and mangled and killed by this same bomb.

The road leading to this home, about twenty-four miles from Kansas City, is one which even now affords the best of hiding places for bandit gangs.

The house, quaint and famous in the annals of border warfare and the desperate robberies that followed the war, is painted white. The home is both new and old. It was built in part forty-nine years ago. The father of Jesse and Frank James was a Baptist minister, a good man and a good preacher, so the old settlers say. He came with his bride from Kentucky and settled on this farm. The Rev. Dr. James died, and a few years later the widow married Dr. Samuels, who lives yet, but is very feeble. Two years ago the original log cabin part of the home was moved to a corner of the garden and a modern frame addition built in its place. On a shelf in the kitchen are the well thumbed books that Jesse and Frank carried to school. Their names are written in many places within them in childish scrawl. The old barn stands as it did when it sheltered the blooded horses of the border guerillas and outlaws.

"What caused your sons to become outlaws?" Mrs. Samuels was asked.

"They were driven to it," she answered, quick and sharp, and the gray eyes of the wonderful old woman snapped viciously.

"My boys were forced into being outlaws," said Mrs. Samuels. 'I have often said, and it is as true as the Bible, that they drove my brave boy Jesse from home and made him whatever he was, and then murdered him because he did what they forced him to do.

"I remember well the morning the soldiers came down across the field," said Mrs. Samuels. "It was plant'd in flax then. A whole company of them came down through there and trooped into this yard, and over into a field where Jesse and Dr. Samuels were plowing corn. They demanded the doctor to tell them where the bushwhackers were hiding. You see Frank James was four years older than Jesse and had been with Quantrell over a year. They had raided Plattsburg and killed a lot of Federals and Frank and Fletch Taylor had headed toward this place. These Federal soldiers were hunting them. Dr. Samuels, my husband, told them he did not know where the bushwhackers were. Then they tied his hands together and drove him to a tree over in the pasture and hanged him three times by the neck. Each time they left him hanging till he was nearly dead and then lowered him down and asked where Frank James was. They left him at last, nearly dead, under the tree.

"But the cowardly hounds did not stop at hanging the doctor. They caught my little Jesse, he was only 14 years old, thin and sickly, and they ran him up and down the corn rows, prodding him with their bayonets and threatening to kill him if he didn't tell them where his brother Frank was.

"There wasn't a drop of coward's blood in the veins of my Jesse. How many boys of 14 do you think would have braved that gang of armed cowards as he did that day? They prodded him with their sharp bayonets til the blood ran, and then they beat his poor back till for weeks afterward he could scarcely wear a shirt. It was then that the hatred of Federal soldiers was put into his heart and it never left him.

"A day or two after that Jesse said to me: 'Ma, I'm going away.'

"'Why, where to, my son?' I asked.

"'I'm going to join Quantrell and take a hand in this fight.'

"Jesse was small for his age and very sickly and thin, and I was afraid to have him go off into the brush with Quantrell. I told him he was too young and small for that kind of rough work, and besides he had no money.

"'Ma,' he said, 'strength and money will both come with time.' I fitted him out with clothes, gave him some money and one of our horses, and he rode away to join Quantrell. I didn't hear a word from him till about three months after that, when a tall young man rode up and hitched his horse at the gate and knocked at the door. I didn't know him till he laughed, and then I saw it was my Jesse, and I guess it wasn't a second till I had him in my arms. The wild life in the bush had agreed with him and he was rosy cheeked and stout. That was the beginning of my boy's roving, and from that time till this, more than thirty years, I've never had a full night's rest."

Mrs. Samuels then recounted the story of the throwing into the house of a bomb by detectives who were searching for the outlaws. It was then that the bandits' mother lost her hand and her youngest child was killed. She talked of Jesse's last day at home before he was shot by the cowardly Bob Ford, a member of his gang, and of various attempts to capture the boys. Through it all there was not a shade of doubt as to the honor and bravery of her sons, all their misdeeds being shrouded in a mist of heroism which is impenetrable to a mother's eyes.

When the conversation drifted to religion, Mrs. Samuels said of her favorite:

"I am as thoroughly satisfied about Jesse's salvation as I am about my own. When I come to die I will be just as certain that I will meet my boy Jesse in heaven as that I am going there myself. Jesse was a Baptist. He joined the church during the war. He came home terribly wounded, shot twice through the lungs, and for months we nursed him while he lay near death. When he got well he went to meetings at the Baptist church and was baptized. He was a good Christian. You know the Baptists believe that when a person is once saved he is always saved. There is no going back. And I am a Baptist.

"But the funniest thing that ever happened was one day when a sheriff—I won't mention his name, because he is living yet—came here alone after Jesse and Frank. I had ten harvest hands at work in the field, and Jesse and Frank were hiding in the attic. When dinner was ready I brought Jesse and Frank down to eat first before the hands came in at noon. Just as they came down stairs there was a knock at the door. Jesse peeped out the window and said it was the sheriff. He and Frank both drew revolvers and Jesse said:

"'Open the door, mother.'

"I opened it, and the sheriff walked in.

"'Your gun, please,' Jesse said, as cool as could be, and the sheriff took out his revolver.

"'Throw it over on the bed,' ordered Jesse, and he did so.

"'Now, sit down and have dinner with us,' commanded Jesse, and all three sat down at the table and chatted like old friends while they ate a hearty meal. After it was over Jesse handed the sheriff his revolver and bid him good-bye. The sheriff never came back. He was always a great friend of my boys after that."

Mrs. Samuels has made her will. When she dies she is to be buried in the family lot at Kearney, by the side of Archie, who was killed by the Pinkerton bomb. The body of Jesse will be disinterred and buried there also. The farm is to be divided between Frank James and the two children of Jesse. There are seventy-six acres of it now, and it is worth $5000.

Connecticut as a Jag Center.

These are hard-cider days in Connecticut. In the railway towns beer is the summer and whisky the winter beverage. Back in the wilder parts of Connecticut, as the cold weather comes on, one can find in almost every farm house a pitcher of pale amber liquid decorating the evening table. Innocent enough it looks, this pitcher, but innocent it is not by any means, for it is last year's cider and has what the country folk call an edge on it. He who drinks more than two glasses is liable to find himself in that same condition.

They say in the railroad towns that the back villages, as they are termed, bear a reputation for mingled piety and hard cider. Mingled is the word, or, according to this slanderous allegation, the more rigidly orthodox and church-going the community the more hard cider it gets away with. A reporter who was obliged to go to one of these back villages recently on Sunday evening had a good opportunity to observe the peculiarities induced by a liberal use of the beverage upon different persons. The village in question was twelve miles from the nearest railway station to which any trains run on Sunday, so the reporter got a rig and a colored youth to drive it and set out. Half way there the colored youth inquired if he was on business.

"'Cause," he explained, "They's mos' powerful religious out dah. Dont reckon dedd do any business of no kind on Sunday, without it was religious business."

As the errand had to do with dissensions in a church the reporter hoped that its religious bearings would be sufficient to appease the community's conscience, and told the driver to take him to Deacon Smithwell's house.

"He's one o' de mos' religiousest," remarked that cheery youth. "He been talkin' hell fiah at dese folks for twenty year, dey tell. Reckon we fin' him at home shuah. Dah's his house wif de light in it."

It was then 9 o'clock in the evening. Above the whispering of the leaves in the light wind and the weather observations of the tree toads could be heard a powerful barytone voice raised in a sort of chant.

"Dat's Deacon Smithwell a-singin' psalms," said the driver in awestruck tones.

As he spoke several other voices joined the barytone in a chorus a trifle alien to any psalm that the reporter ever heard. It ran:

"With a tooral-li-ooral-li-ooral,
An' a tooral-li-ooral-li-ay!"

This was repeated several times, after which the barytone took up the recitative, but the words of this were indistinguishable, even when the visitor got to the door. The chorus burst out again as he knocked, and being unable to make his appeals for entrance heard over the din, he lifted the latch and entered. Four middle-aged men sat around a plain deal table, leaning far back in their chairs, with their faces upturned to the ceiling. In the center of the table stood a large glass pitcher containing the pale but by no means weak hard cider. Next to the pitcher was a pail. Next to the pail was a jug. Next to the jug was a bucket. Over in the corner was a barrel. There was probably a hogshead out in the back yard, but the reporter didn't go that far. Each of the four men held a large glass.

Again the reporter requested information regarding the location of Deacon Smithwell, and this time one of the musicians warbled a sort of aria containing the information that the deacon was ill and not to be seen. Straightway the voice in the inner room took up the theme and wove it into an anthem to the general effect that the pains of torment awaited the modern Ananais who declared him unfit to be seen, which he would prove by appearing, and forthwith he appeared, to the welcoming strains of the chorus. Nimbly dodging three chairs, which strove to intercept him, the deacon reached the table and took a deep and long drink of the hard cider. Having offered some to the visitor, and sent a glass out to the driver, he sat down and dived headlong into an erudite discussion of church law as bearing upon the case which the reporter was investigating.

"That's the law," he said at the end; "but for the facts you go and see Ezra Solly. No good your going tonight, though. Stay here and sing tonight and tomorrow see Ezra."

After some difficulty the reporter got away and proceeded up the road to Ezra Solly's, a parting chorus cheering him on his way. At Ezra's there was a light in the window, but no sound was heard. The reporter was admitted by a tall man, who, as soon as he had closed the door behind the visitor, returned to his seat at one end of the table, buried his face in his hands, and groaned bitterly. At the other end of the table sat another man, who at the sound of the groan emitted a most comprehensive sniffle. Thoroughly convinced that he had alighted upon a house of mourning, the reporter was revolving in his mind the methods of graceful exit when the man who had admitted him raised a tear-stained face and also a large tin pail which stood beside his chair on the floor and from which he imbibed consolation apparently, for his voice was steady enough as he asked the visitor his business. Then, without waiting for an answer, he said in heart-broken accents:

"Young man, are you aware that you are a miserable sinner?"

The reporter tried to pass the question over, but Ezra Solly, for he was the speaker, continued:

"And that yon wretched man opposite me is also a miserable sinner?"

"Yon wretched man," whose name was Hiram, unable to control his feelings, wept loudly and bitterly, then, reaching down, produced a duplicate of Mr. Solly's tin pail of comfort, and set about making up for the waste of his tears.

Remarking that he heard voices outside—it was the horse neighing—Hiram went out, taking with him his pail, which he politely offered to the animal. Upon its refusal to drink he got a glass and gave a glassful to the driver. Meantime the reporter had plunged Ezra Solly into such a state of woeful reflections about the church that all information was submerged in tears. Caleb Wilber, "up the road a piece," was suggested, and to Caleb's house the reporter went, bearing in mind Ezra Solly's parting injunction:

"Don't be surprised if you find Caleb a little pernickelty to get along with. Caleb's a God fearing, upright man, but alas!"—here he paused to mop away several tears—"he will drink hard cider."

Sounds as of a riot greeted the ear upon the approach to the Wilber house, and as the buggy rolled up a side door of the house burst open and two figures clasped in a tight embrace staggered out. Waving fists seemed to indicate that the embrace was not one of affection, and the suspicion was confirmed when the figures rolled upon the ground. Several other figures rushed out and projected themselves into the fight. Fortunately none of the belligerents was in a condition to do or take very much harm, and the end came soon. Caleb Wilber said it was the effect of the eggs in the hard cider, and he called the reporter's attention to a pitcher of thickish liquid, the result of shaking up raw eggs in cider. This is a very popular combination in that part of Connecticut, but its appearance was not such as to inspire the visitor with any desire to test it, so he declined his host's suggestion. Outside Henry Stebbins was in the act of giving a glass of raw-egg-hard-cider combination to the driver. At the sound of conflict, however, Henry rushed back to the house, announcing his intention of biting Caleb's ear off, and from the sounds which followed his entry it would appear that he was carrying out his intention.

Three species of hard cider drunkenness had now been exhibited to the reporter—the jubilantly musical, the lachrymose and the pugilistic. Having got well out of the village on the return trip, he supposed that the list was complete, but this was an error. He was now to have an example of the hysterical. The colored youth who was driving had not drunk more than three glasses of the beverage, and had not said a word up to the time when the return trip was half completed. Then suddenly he leaped to his feet with a yell of terror and pointed to a swamp on the right of the road.

"Lookadar!" he yelled.

"What is it?" demanded the reporter, reaching for the reins, which the youth had dropped.

"Oh, my Lawdy! Ghos'!" howled the youth. "Didn' you see um? Oo-oo-oo-oo!"

He collapsed in the bottom of the buggy and pulled the rug over his head, in the midst of which swathing the chattering of his teeth could be plainly heard, interspersed with dismal groans. So far as could be seen there was nothing in the swamp to account for his alarm.—Chicago Inter-Ocean.

ITEMS OF INTEREST TO MINING PEOPLE.

The San Francisco Mint charge for recoinage of gold $1 for 1,000 ounces.

The world's gold yield in '92 was 7,041,822 fine ounces; in '97, 11,490,348.

In the United States mint one pound of copper is added to every $2,000 silver coined.

There are $215,000,000 invested in the mining and transportation of Lake Superior iron ores.

At Idaho Springs, Colorado, there are ten mills in operation, with a daily capacity of 500 tons.

The Grass Valley Telegraph says there are about 800 men employed in the mines of that vicinity.

The system of day's wages is reported to be gradually superseding the tribute system in the mines of Grass Valley.

On the Fillmore electric street railway line in San Francisco, for some blocks, the grade is twenty-five per cent, believed to be the steepest of any in the country.

At Keswick, California, the ore is an unusually pure iron sulphide, about five per cent silica, and runs about $5.50 per ton in gold and silver, with about five and a half per cent copper.

An authority on seismic disturbance says that thirty miles below the earth's surface is the greatest depth at which earthquakes are known to originate.

In connection with the pumping plant to be operated on the Comstock, Nevada, lode, the local water company has offered the necessary water to operate the pumps for $2,000 per month for six months, and renew the contract for another six months if the conditions of the mine do not improve. The water company figures that such supply will cost it $2,300 per month.

In Gilpin county, Colorado, though the smallest county in the State, 50,000 tons of ore are crushed a month. The county contains 2,500 patented claims. The mineral output of the county in 1897 was: Gold, $2,086,471.14; silver, $232,330.74; copper, $106,052.48; lead, $57,860.19, a total of $2,484,623.55.

A loss of gold occurs in all placer mining. In hydraulic mining, where the gold is fine, such loss has been estimated at forty per cent. It has been figured of the total gold product of the California hydraulic mines 60 per cent remains buried in the tailings, and that of this fifty per cent is recoverable, equal to thirty per cent of the original contents.

Irish Wit.

London Telegraph: A Roman Catholic bishop was examining a class of school boys in the doctrines of the church preparatory to the administration of confirmation. "What is cursing?" he asked one youth. "Wishing ill to a neighbor," came the stereotyped reply. "Can any boy give me a better definition?" said the bishop. "Go to the devil, me lord," cried a bright little boy at the end of the class.

Irish domestics are noted for their simplicity and their quaint remarks. A lady desiring to make the most of her choice tap of table beer, the merits of which her servants had discovered, for it disappeared rapidly, thus addressed her Irish butler: "Daly, what do you think would be the best thing to do in order to save this beer as much as possible?" 'Weil, ma'am," replied the butler, "I don't think you could do better than to place a barrel of good strong ale close by the side of it."

An Irish dispensary doctor told me of the newly wedded wife of a Westmeath landlord, desiring to act the part of a Lady Bountiful, had a school house erected on the estate, and supplied the erstwhile barefooted children with shoes and stockings. One day the lady met a woman, who asked her for some favor which she was unable to grant. "An' is that the thanks I get for making me children wear shoes and go to school to plaze ye?" was the woman's indignant comment.

A priest, who was an enthusiastic advocate of the blessings of temperance, succeeded in inducing a worthy but not very abstemious parishioner to take the pledge. Shortly afterward his reverence met his convert in a condition of advanced intoxication. "How is this, James?" asked the amazed priest, "I thought you were a teetotaler?" "So I am a teetotaler, but I'm a bigoted one." Another priest, having succeeded in getting a parishioner, who was arrested for being drunk and disorderly, discharged with a caution, said to the man, "Now, remember, Pat, what brought you to the dock." "Faith, I will, yer riverence," said Pat. "I'll be even wid that boy, Constable Feeney, yet."

A well-known Dublin temperance advocate was standing near a public house, waiting for a tram, when a man, in a rather intoxicated condition, approached the tavern. "Stop," said the temperance advocate, "the devil is going in there with you." "He needn't thin, for I've only tuppence."

A resident, during a visit to Dublin, complained to a friend of the loneliness of the place. "Ah!" said the other, thinking of the Atlantic in its many moods, "but you have a beautiful view." "Sorra a bit," said the Kilkee man. "Shure, there's nothing but the say betune us and America."

How to Get Strong

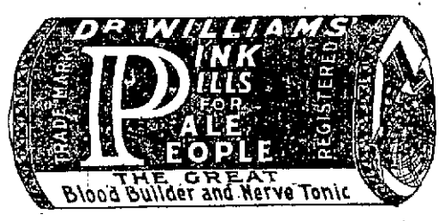

A system which has become run down by the trying weather of the past summer is not in a condition to meet the severe winter of this climate and will easily fall a prey to disease unless a proper tonic is used.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are the best medicine in the world for building up and strengthening an enervated system.

Do not confuse these pills with ordinary purgative pills. They do NOT act on the bowels, thereby further weakening the body. They build up the blood and strengthen the nerves.

Major A. C. Bishop, of 715 Third ave., Detroit, Mich., is a well known civil engineer. He says: "When I had my last spell of sickness and came out of the hospital I was a sorry sight. I could not regain my strength, and could not walk over a block for several weeks. I noticed some articles in the newspapers regarding Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, which convinced me that they were worth trying and I bought two boxes. I did not take them for my complexion but for strength. After using them I felt better, and know they did me worlds of good. I am pleased to recommend them to invalids who need a tonic or to build up a shattered constitution."—Detroit Free Press.

The great success of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People has led to many attempts at imitation and substitution. The genuine are always sold in packages like this, the wrapper being printed in red ink on white paper. At all druggists or direct from the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N.Y., 50 cents per box.

With the Golf Players.

The members of the Oakland Golf Club are busy once more with the sticks and links. The weather has been especially propitious for the game of golf during the past week or two, and the members have taken advantage of it. Every day several players may be seen on the grounds at Adams' Point practicing the game. There is now an added incentive for the players to work hard and become proficient. Mr. and Mrs. Orestes Pierce have donated to the club a cup which will be contested for two weeks from today. To be eligible for this contest members must have made a certain record. It is to attain this required proficiency that the players are now working so hard.

Next Saturday there will be a general tournament to decide who will and who will not be eligible to the contest.

An Exclusive Set.

Washington Post: There is a woman in town who is employed in one of the departments, but she is, Oh, so very exclusive! She doesn't permit her fellow-clerks to speak to her outside the office, and she listens to them there only when they talk of the work. She lives in a fashionable apartment house and I heard her telling an acquaintance about it, just a few days ago.

"It's somewhat expensive," she said, "but it has one very great advantage. I am the only department clerk in the house. I don't associate with department people."

The reply the acquaintance made was not in the slightest degree clever, but the venom of it was so candid, the well-deserved contempt so unveiled, that I remember it with the keenest pleasure.

"No," she said, "no, I suppose you don't. I've heard that they are a very exclusive set here in Washington."

A Gentle Hint.

New York World: "Miss Strutt," said a young man to an acquaintance with whom he was taking a walk one evening, "I hope this cigarette will not be offensive to you?"

"Not at all, sir," she replied, slowly, and with emphasis, "unless you light it."
